Two County Demo Surprises In the 11th Hour Decision

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON
Ulster County Democrats, in an 11th-hour decision, surprised most everyone Tuesday night by coming up with darkhorse candidates for the top two posts on the November election ticket.

Named for the county clerk candidacy at the reconvened unofficial county convention was a New Paltz political science professor, Dr. Willis H. Rath.

Tagged for the county coroner race was Myron "Mike" Kutcher of Woodstock.

Something in Common

Both men, relatively unfamiliar in the county political arena, have something in common. Both said in their acceptance speeches that they would not be opposed to the abolition of the posts they seek.

Rath, a former South Dakota congressional candidate and once mayor of Rapid City, S. D., indicated that if the needed and proposed county charter should rearrange county government to exclude the county clerk's position, he would not "be too opposed."

A six-year resident of the county, Dr. Rath has recently been teaching in Thailand, Okinawa and Japan.

A firm believer in the two-party system, he said the prospect of "becoming involved in this town was exciting and that his candidacy had merit because "to be a Democrat makes a deep and real difference."

He was nominated by state committeeman James McCardie. Seconds came from Harriet Kerr of New Paltz and County Legislator William F. Edelmuth.

Kutcher's candidacy was advanced by Woodstock Town Chairman John Bonilla and endorsed by Town of Ulster chairman Walter Houle.

Until the nomination last night, County Chairman Dr. Gerald Gorman had steadfastly maintained that there would be no candidate for coroner because the party felt that the position calls for a medical examiner.

Kutcher agreed in his acceptance of the nomination saying, "it is time we abolished the archaic coroner system."

Dr. Gorman ran for the post on the same platform two years ago.

An IBM employee and Woodstock committeeman, Kutcher's nominators pointed to his being "widely read, well educated, and well spoken." He is a 15-year resident of Woodstock and Saugerties.

Dr. Rath will face incumbent Republican Albert Spada for the county clerk's position and Kutcher will oppose incumbent County Coroner William S. Keyser.

A nearly complete slate of county legislator candidates was advanced as follows: District 1, Town of Saugerties, incumbents, Richard Thornton and Paul Brazier. There were no nominations for the two remaining seats now held by Republicans.

District 2, Towns of Ulster, Hurley, Kingston and Marbletown, Joseph Policano, Edward Langton, Daniel Steltz and Richard Rosichan, all of the Town of Ulster and James Barton, Town of Kingston.

Districts 3, 4, 5 and 6, City of Kingston, Dr. Gorman, Thomas Lyle, R. Abel Garaghan, William Davis, James Gilpatrick and incumbents Orrie Riehl and William F. Edelmuth.

Other Candidates

District 7, Towns of Rosendale and Esopus, incumbent minority leader Roger Mable, Lewis Kirschner, both of Esopus and Frank McGerr of Rosendale.

District 8, Towns of New Paltz and Gardiner, former state senatorial candidate, A. E. Woolley and Gardiner Supervisor George Majestic.

District 9, Towns of Shawangunk, Plattkill, Marlboro and Lloyd, William Wilklow and Joseph Coppola. Three candidates posts unfilled.

District 10, Town of Wawarsing, former Supervisor George Barthel and Donald Bradford. One candidacy remains vacant.

District 11, Towns of Rochester, Denning, Hardenbergh, Shandaken and Olive, Burton Marshall of Rochester and Robert Smith of Olive.

District 12, Town of Woodstock, John Bonilla.

PLANE COMMANDER—Lt. Cmdr. James H. Overstreet, 34, of McLaurin, Miss., was identified as the aircraft commander of the reconnaissance plane. (US NAVY PHOTO VIA UPI RADIOPHOTO)

No Plane Survivors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon said today that "regrettably there is no report of any survivors being found" from the missing EC121 aircraft lost in the Sea of Japan.

The Defense Department announcement shortly before 9 a.m. EST said a Russian ship reported picking up what appeared to be pieces of the missing U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane.

The Defense Department added that "all evidence now available" indicates that the missing reconnaissance plane was shot down by North Korean aircraft and that it was "far outside" North Korean airspace when attacked.

2 Russian Ships Join

"The Soviet ship said in response to questions that it had not recovered or seen any survivors," the Pentagon said. The plane with a crew of 31 was reported missing early Monday and the North Korean Communists claimed they shot it down. Some debris, presumably from the missing plane, was sighted in the Sea of Japan Monday night.

Two Russian ships joined in the search and rescue operation at U.S. request. The Russian port of Vladivostok is only about 150 miles from where the plane apparently went down.

The Defense Department reported this morning said:

"Direct communication has been established between one of the Soviet destroyer-type ships in the search area and a U.S. aircraft from Korea.

"The Soviet ship said in response to questions that it had not recovered or seen any survivors, but that it had picked up what it reported to be aircraft parts."

Not Fully Certain

The statement said U.S. aircraft flew low over the Soviet ship and photographed the wreckage. A photographic plane reported that the wreckage appeared to be a wheel and a ladder. It was not fully certain, however, that the wreckage was from the missing plane.

The Pentagon report said two American destroyers dispatched Tuesday from their base in Japan—the Tucker and the Dale—arrived in the search area at 5:40 a.m. EST today. They reported that Soviet aircraft were in the area, apparently also searching.

U.S. fighter planes were providing "combat cover" for their sister search planes.

The Pentagon report said that at 1:25 a.m. EST, a U.S. plane parachuted a radio to one of the Soviet vessels which was on the scene helping in the search.

When contact was made over this radio, the aircraft dropped smoke markers on debris it had seen in the water and the Soviet vessels then picked up the debris.

The United States said only that the plane was missing after a "routine" reconnaissance mission during which it was under strict orders not to get closer than 50 miles to the North Korean coast.

The EC121, a propeller-driven plane crammed with electronic snooping equipment, had been missing for about 20 hours when search planes sighted the debris. The destroyers Tucker and Dale were en route from Japan.

—The Pentagon said the plane was under orders to fly no closer than 50 miles from the North Korean coast, and was actually 90 miles out when last heard from late Monday night, Easter Standard Time.

The Russian destroyers steamed toward the area after spotter planes sighted debris Tuesday night Washington time. The United States had asked the Soviets for help in rescue efforts.

'Grave Provocation'

North Korea said in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo that it had downed a large, modernly equipped American reconnaissance plane "with a single shot at a high altitude."

The plane was a military version of the Lockheed Super Constellation, a four-engine propeller-driven craft with a three-finned tail used by American civilian airlines for many years.

The Communist Korean broadcast said the plane had committed the "grave provocation of infiltrating deep into the territorial air" of its country.

President, Advisers Weigh Action on Spy Plane Incident

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon conferred today with his top advisers to discuss what action, if any, can be taken against Communist North Korea for shooting down an unarmed American reconnaissance plane—an incident described by one U. S. official as "deliberate murder."

The meeting of the National Security Council convened at the White House at 10:05 a. m. EST, according to the President's press secretary, Ronald Ziegler.

The session of the National Security Council, previously scheduled to discuss other matters, was certain to be devoted almost entirely to the tragedy, in which 31 crewmen apparently lost their lives.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and other high officials said flatly it was shot down by two Soviet-built MIG planes far from North Korean territory, Agnew said in Manchester, N.H., Tuesday night that the plane was more than 100 nautical miles outside North Korean territorial air space.

Too Sketchy: Fish

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. told The Freeman this morning, at the time the National Security Council was meeting, that the basic information on the incident "is a bit too sketchy" to jump one way or another.

Drawing a parallel between the plane and the Pueblo incident, the congressman recalled that the 1968 Pueblo seizure was followed by strong verbal blasts from the former administration which "turned out to be nothing but rhetoric."

Fish said he preferred the "cooler" approach of President Nixon in that he is "not jumping before knowing where we're going to land."

Nixon, who last August at the GOP National Convention sharply criticized President Johnson for letting a "fourth-rate military power like Korea" seize the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo, today faced the problem of how to deal with a similar—but not identical—act.

His political opponents showed no inclination to harass Nixon by quoting back his campaign oratory. But it was clear that he was hemmed in by the same lack of maneuvers that prevented Johnson from taking military action to try to recover the Pueblo.

At that time Johnson ruled out military retaliation on the grounds that this would make it impossible to recover the crewmen alive. He also made it clear that he did not want to risk starting another war in Asia while trying to scale down the one in Vietnam.

No Chance for Crew

This time the lives of the crewmen appeared to be no consideration. Officials indicated there was no chance they might have survived the 42 degree waters in the northern Sea of Japan, even if they got out of the plane alive.

Nixon, in considering the wisdom of retaliatory attack, undoubtedly finds himself inhibited by the strategic considerations which Johnson mentioned.

According to The Associated Press Rep. Samuel S. Stratton (D-N.Y.) said there was no question that the reconnaissance plane the North Koreans said Tuesday they had shot down was in international air space.

"Although we're a very powerful power, we just don't have the guts to respond," Stratton said.

He said America is in a sense, "musclebound."

Early today the United States apparently had not yet decided whether to agree to a Communist North Korean demand for a meeting Friday at Panmunjom of the Koreans wanted the meeting as a stage from which to broadcast their charges—denied privately but not yet formally by American officials—that the lumbering propeller-driven Navy reconnaissance plane intruded deep into North Korean airspace.

To Top It Off--

SEOUL (UPI)—North Korea today demanded a meeting Friday of the Korean Military Armistice Commission, apparently to discuss with U.S. and U.N. officials the American reconnaissance plane the Communists claim to have shot down.

U.S. planes and ships searched the Sea of Japan off the North Korean Coast today (DMZ). The Japanese news agency Kyodo said the UNC had agreed to meet.

It was quiet along the 151-mile truce front dividing North and South Korea. Military officials conferred through the night on the most serious incident since North Korea (UNC) had agreed to a meeting at the truce village of Panmunjom on the Demilitarized Zone Korean, Jan. 23, 1968.

Families of Crew Wait and Wonder

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Families of crewmen on the Navy plane reported downed by North Korea wait and wonder today.

"We always hope he will be found alive," said Chester Sundby of his son, Philip, 21, Sundby, a Seattle resident and father of a Quaker family added, "He's in the hands of the Lord now as far as we're concerned."

He said Philip enlisted over two years ago while still in high school.

"He realized like a lot of young fellows that he had to serve time in the service like the rest of us," said Sundby. "He felt the Navy was OK."

"I told my boy that when the time comes to be drafted, if he can conscientiously do this in light of what God says, I'll stand behind him 100 per cent."

A call for action was sounded by Mrs. Geradine Smith, wife of Communications Technician Chief Richard E. Smith. "We should let these people know they can't shoot down our planes," she said. "I feel this very strongly."

"I think the government must take a stronger stand than it took during the Pueblo incident," she said referring to the seizure of the Navy intelligence vessel by the North Koreans last year. "Nothing was done but to let them (the Pueblo crewmen) remain prisoners."

Mrs. Smith said she got a letter from her husband Monday telling her how he was looking forward to retiring next February after 28 years in the Navy. She said they bought their home in Phoenix last year for their post-Navy life.

She said Smith, 45, had taken her with him on all his previous assignments until the current one in Japan. She said Smith was at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese attacked and aboard the battleship Missouri when they surrendered at the end of World War II.

Mrs. Robert MacNeil of Pleasanton, Calif., mother of Aviation Electronic Technician 2.C. Timothy MacNeil, 24, said, "We know the dangerous aspects of his job. His plane was just a sitting duck. They couldn't shoot back."

County Consumer Survey: Interesting Attitudes

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

ULSTER PARK
A recent consumer survey embracing a study of family economics in which scores of families of Ulster County participated revealed some interesting attitudes.

Ulster County was among 76 locations in 30 states chosen as part of a national sampling conducted by the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Walter S. Herring of Ulster Park was the local interviewer. She contacted consumers in this area at selected addresses for views on various topics and consumer attitudes.

Although the results announced recently do not break down the attitudes of Ulster County residents, the survey covers personal interviews obtained from the heads of approximately 3,100 family units, representative of all families in the U.S.

The first report released gives results of a study of family economics and includes the following topics: Cars, savings, medical insurance, food and groceries, where people live, employment, use of spare time and other miscellaneous information.

Spare Time Activities

In answer to a question about spare time activities, the results noted 6 per cent drive the car, talk with neighbors, play cards, walk and read; 44 per cent participate in sports, bowling and tennis in particular, and pursue a hobby; 38 per cent are involved in gardening and work around the house; 20 per cent watch television or go to the movies, and only 3 per cent avail themselves of courses or lessons and to learn new skills.

The survey on food and groceries revealed that 60 per cent of the families contacted said they eat out once in a while, but not too frequently. Only one family in 10 eats out more than twice a week. More than 25 per cent of the families surveyed spent $10 per week or more dining out.

The survey noted a wide range in the amount of money families spend on groceries. This ranges from nothing. Some few get meals free or eat out all the time. On the other end of the scale are those families, about 7 per cent, who reported spending more than $50 per week on groceries.

More than half of the families surveyed reported some way in which they tried to keep food costs down. The most common approach was buying in quantity and buying specials. There were also reports of eating cheaper foods, using leftovers and carrying lunch to work. A total of 15 per cent reported producing or catching their own food and another 15 per cent saved money by doing their own baking, canning and freezing.

A unique report on the drinking of alcoholic beverages revealed that six out of 10 families drink no alcohol. Among the remainder, the vast majority spent less than $5 per week on alcoholic beverages. Less than one per cent reported spending $20 per week or more on alcoholic beverages.

According to the survey results, 80 per cent of U.S. families have some form of medical insurance and another 10 per cent get free medical care. This leaves only one family in 10 with no specific provisions for medical care.

The report on savings reveals nearly 80 per cent of the surveyed families have some savings. One family in four does not now have two months income saved up, and has not had that much saved at any time during the past five years.

Ownership of automobiles in the survey was most enlightening. Only one family in 10 has no one in the family who can drive a car. On the other hand, one family in eight among those surveyed has three or more drivers. Also, nearly two families in 10 do not own a car and most of these say this does not cause any difficulty. Those who did report difficulty spoke mostly on the general inconvenience in getting about. Only a few mentioned trouble about getting to work. Most non-car owning families said there is adequate public transportation within walking distance of home.

Seat belts revealed several factors. The survey three years ago noted about half of the cars owned by American families had seat belts. Now three quarters of the cars have them, but not all drivers use the seat belts. There was an increase in the number of Americans who reported they don't use the seat belts in their cars. Also, only one driver in four picked at random said he fastens his seat belt when driving.

Less Than 50 Hours

On car repairs, about four in every 10 car owners do some repair work on their cars. One in six does repair work calling for special skill ranging from brake or exhaust system repair to complex engine work. Most of these owners report savings from $50 to $200 by doing their own repairs. About five per cent saved more than $200. Those who work on their cars spend less than 50 hours on the work during the year.

The questions on clothing and during special sales. The amounts saved varied from very little up to $500 or more per year. The average savings was between $50 and $200.

Special

On where people lived, 28 per cent of those interviewed live 50 or more miles from the nearest large city (50,000 or more population). Twenty-three per cent live less than 5 miles away and another 23 per cent live five to 15 miles away from the city center. Sixteen per cent live 15 to 30 miles away and nine per cent live 30 to 50 miles away from the city center.

Most families surveyed, about 70 per cent, live in detached single-family houses. Another 10 per cent live in apartment houses and the remainder live in two-family units and row houses.

The employment factor of the survey revealed that nearly 60 per cent of working Americans have been working for the same employer for four years or more; 37 per cent have done so for 10 years or more, and 13 per cent for 20 years or more.

Among those who changed jobs, the largest group, or 70 per cent, quit to accept a better job, and the rest were forced to find other work when the company folded, there was a strike, or they just lost their jobs. The majority or 80 per cent feel their present job is better than the previous one.

Rosendale Approves Budget, $1,000 Increase for Curran

By SHANE CROSBY

ROSENDALE Mayor William P. Curran presented his first village budget here Tuesday, calling for a 10 per cent increase in taxes and giving himself a $1,000 increase in pay.

The budget, changed slightly during the four-hour session in the Main Street Firehouse, was approved by the village. Curran said 99 per cent of those present agreed with the budget.

Out of a general fund budget of $55,993, the newly elected Republican proposes to raise $41,137 by taxes this fiscal year.

His increased salary was explained as a "money-saving device" in that the mayor eliminated a $1,000 item set aside for attorney fees in the last budget of former Mayor Joseph S. Reid. Curran, a practicing attorney in the village, said he would handle village legal matters himself.

His salary now jumps from $500 to $1,500 a year. He said legal expenses for the current year could be as high as $3,000 if a lawyer were to be hired.

Without Title

Noting that it would be illegal for a mayor to serve as village attorney at the same time, Curran said he would work on law problems without the title. He called the issue of double posts "a thorn in my side."

Questions as to the legality of his holding the position of Town of Rosendale attorney and at the same time wanting to work as village attorney had plagued the new mayor through the election and the first week in office.

His budget, he said, reflected problems left over from the former Democratic Reid administration. Had it not been for what Curran called "mistakes and miscalculations" by Reid, plus old debts, the new budget could have included only a 5 to 10 per cent tax cut.

As Curran took office he predicted a 25 to 35 per cent increase in taxes for his first year, going against a $1-plus proposed cut made by Reid in his outgoing budget.

Curran said Reid had incurred debts that have to be paid off this year, and Tuesday night said next year's budget could show a 10 to 15 per cent reduction in the tax rate.

The new rate is expected to be $13.17 per $1,000 of assessed valuation on property in the village.

A pet project of Curran's was reduced, after what he called a give and take debate with residents present at the meeting. Curran had proposed a total of $700 for recreation in the budget, up $500 from the last budget. He said $500 of that total would have been matched by the State Youth Agency. After some debate, the item was cut to $500.

Of that amount, $200 is earmarked for the Town of Rosendale recreation program, and the remaining $300, to be matched by the state, is for a Village program.

He proposes a year-round program of sports and recreation in the Village, something, he said, the previous administration had not attempted.

Debts Must Be Paid

Anticipated revenues, aside from taxes, are expected to be about $13,855, giving the Village a slight surplus at the end of the year. Curran said debts in the amount of more than $11,000 had to be paid off this year "that we never had to pay before." He placed the blame on Reid for the high debts of the Village that includes $7,000 in tax anticipation notes, and $20,900 for a new fire truck, saying "he had not been in complete agreement on the truck's purchase."

Curran contended that had it not been for these debts incurred by Reid the tax rate would have been cut as much as 10 per cent made miscalculations in other instead of increased. He said items and made errors in calculation for late insurance rates that the Village pays.

Rockefeller Seeks Legislation For Federal Welfare Takeover

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller Tuesday called for congressional approval of legislation that would provide for federal takeover of welfare payments by 1972.

Sen. Charles Goodell and Reps. Ogden B. Reid and Barber Conable Jr., all Republicans, have introduced bills that would help state governments to meet the problem, he said.

The bills would provide that the federal government take over full payment of welfare programs by 1972.

In the meantime, the federal government would gradually work toward assuming the full responsibility of the welfare program now conducted by the states. Nationwide welfare standards would be established and the federal government would increase its aid to the states for welfare programs.

New York lawmakers in Congress also will press for legislation that would provide for block grants to states to help pay for education programs, he said.

Rockefeller touched on the federal programs in a wide-ranging news conference at the Capitol.

He also proposed to use surplus food to supplement the reduced allowances of welfare recipients in the state.

In other matters, he said he was willing to consider appointing to coveted state jobs the two Democratic assemblymen who voted with Republicans for a higher state sales tax.

"What they did on the budget doesn't make me feel punitive toward them," he said.

Under the welfare proposal, the federal government would step up its aid each year until it took over the full costs in 1972.

Federal standards would be set up nationwide, with adjustment for the cost of living in various parts of the country. The federal government also would assume 75 per cent of the cost of Medicaid, instead of the 60 per cent share it contributes currently.

"The proposed federal legislation, when fully effective, provide New York State and its localities more than $3 billion in additional federal funds in the form of grants for education and relief from welfare expenditures," he said.

Of this amount, over $1.5 billion would be for New York City.

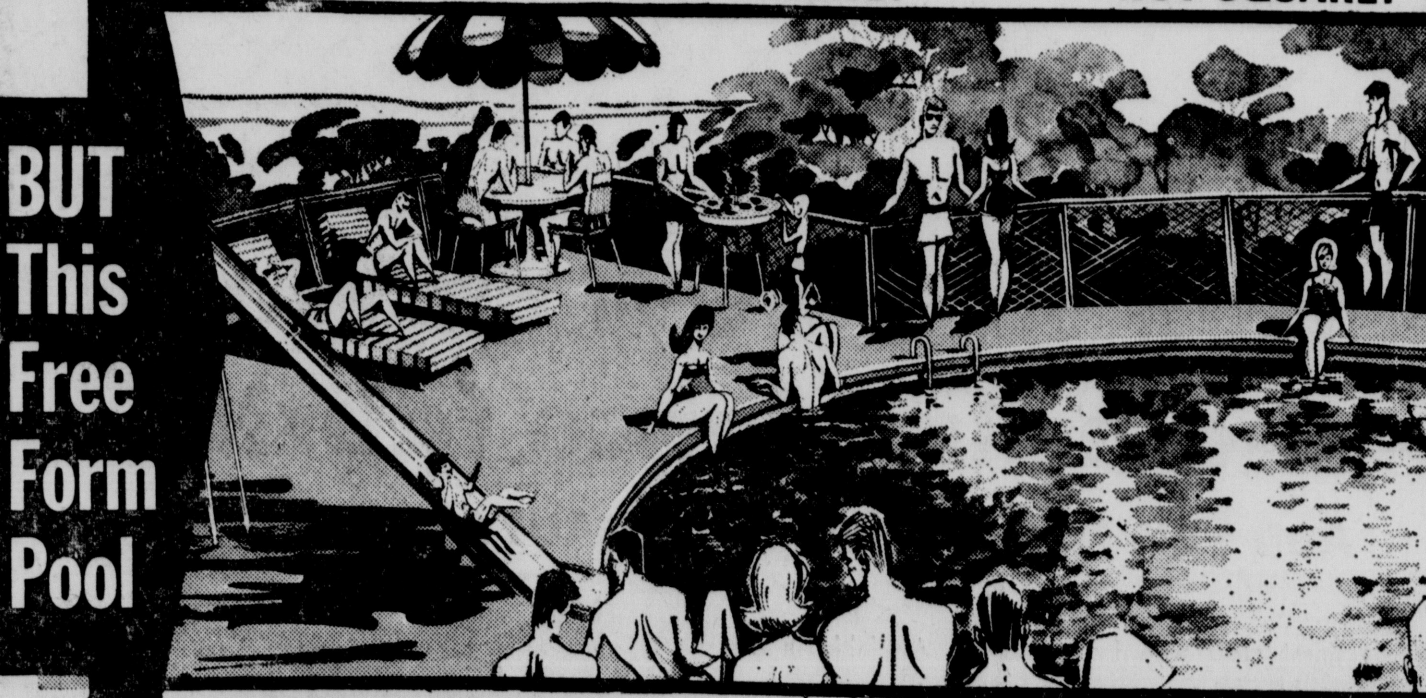

In return, Rockefeller said, the states would have to maintain their tax efforts or face a reduction in federal funds.

This provision would assure, he said, "that states and localities do not utilize the federal takeover of welfare and the increased federal funds for education as a means of cutting back on their total fiscal effort."

Battle Across Suez For 10th Day in Row

Egyptian and Israeli troops battled across the Suez Canal or the 10th straight day today, Cairo Radio said. Israel also fought Jordanian forces and sent two jets into Jordan at Arab positions.

The Cairo Radio report said the new cross-canal duel started at 10:35 a.m. with artillery, tanks and other weapons battling between Suez City and the Bitter Lakes region.

A Jordanian military spokesman said two French-built Israeli Mystere's attacked Nashan and Um Tuta with rockets and napalm for 10 minutes. There was no mention of casualties.

Unofficial reports in Israel said the planes bombed Arab guerrilla positions that shelled three Israeli settlements with mortars earlier in the day.

Only Mortar Fire Officially, Israel said only that mortar fire from Jordanian territory was directed at the settlements of Ashdot Yaacov, Nev Ur and Bet Yosef and at Israeli patrols in the Beisan Valley. It said Israeli forces returned the fire and the exchange lasted 45 minutes.

The Jordanian military spokesman said in Amman that Jordan suffered no casualties today in three hours of artillery, mortar and tank fighting across the Jordan River Valley.

He said Jordanian guns destroyed five Israeli tanks, a vehicle, two .50 caliber machine gun positions, an observation post and two artillery emplacements.

Israeli residents near the Israeli-Jordanian ceasefire line said they saw Israeli planes "silence" Arab commando positions from where mortar fire was directed at the settlements at 6:45 a.m.

Non-Farm Employment At Record High

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Non-farm employment reached a new record for the month of February, of 6,973,000, the State Commerce Department reported Tuesday.

The total was 136,000 more than February, 1968, and almost the same as January this year, the department said.

The unemployment rate of 2.8 per cent matched the February low, but was slightly higher than January's 3.6.

In Amman, Jordan, five Arab guerrilla organizations Tuesday rejected Jordanian King Hussein's six-point peace plan proposed in Washington last week.

The guerrilla groups, in an unprecedented joint statement, said they decided to "reject the latest Jordanian proposals and all other proposals to liquidate the Palestine cause."

Document Signed Al Fatah, Al Saigha, the Palestine Liberation Front, the Popular Democratic Front and the Palestine Liberation Organization, signed the document.

Newspapers in Saudi Arabia and Iraq also attacked Hussein's peace plan, which is based on the U.N. Security Council resolution of 1967.

At the United Nations, Israel Tuesday defended its right to demolish Arab houses in the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights and said Syria had "no right or grounds" to complain about it.

Syrian Ambassador George J. Tomeh said last week that the demolition of Arab houses was a violation of the Geneva Convention on protection of civilians in wartime and warned Israel leaders that they would have to pay for this the same way Nazi war criminals did.

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong and North Vietnamese gunners shelled 25 towns and camps overnight and U.S. Air Force B52 bombers hit back today with raids against guerrilla bivouacs between Saigon and the Cambodian border.

Military spokesmen announcing the shellings said the costliest barrage was a 50-round

Board Adopts Sub-Divisions For Plattkill

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

ARDONIA Sub-division regulations for the Town of Plattkill, presented by the town's Planning Board at a public hearing Monday night was adopted by Plattkill Town Board at a public hearing Monday night was adopted by Plattkill Town Board at a special meeting Tuesday.

At the board meeting following the hearing the Town Board granted authorization to the Planning Board to approve sub-division plots and to establish rules, regulations and conditions in regard to plots.

In other business, the Town Board unanimously approved a resolution filing strong objections to the proposal of the Pure Waters Authority to find landfill sites in southern Ulster County for Westchester County garbage and refuse. Copies of the resolution will be sent to the Pure Waters Authority, to Gov. Rockefeller, State Sen. Jay P. Rolison and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, R-Woodstock.

The Town Board interviewed one of the candidates for the position of town planning consultant. Other candidates recommended by the Planning Board will be interviewed as soon as meetings can be arranged.

The board approved installation of a street light in front of the Court of Special Sessions building on a new section of Unionville Road. Supervisor George Sisti Jr., is making arrangements with Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., for the installation.

The building is being re-modeled for use as a Justice Court during the summer. The structure was moved by the town constables from Modena Country Club to the new site donated to the town by Supervisor Sisti.

The constables moved the building on their own time and with their own equipment according to Town Clerk Edith C. Wager.

Reds Shell Towns, Camps

B52s in Widespread Attacks

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong mortar salvo into Kien Thien Village in the Mekong Delta, killing five South Vietnamese and wounding 19.

Overall casualties and damage in the 52nd round of barrages since the nationwide Viet Cong and North Vietnamese offensive began Feb. 23 were described as light. The heaviest losses were at Tien Khien, 114 miles southwest of Saigon. All of the dead were government soldiers.

B52s Hit Back

Three armadas of B52 Stratofortresses swept in from bases outside Vietnam and hit back with at least 500,000 pounds of bombs on Communist routes toward Saigon from Cambodia, all northwest of the capital.

The U.S. Command said the B52s' targets ranged from 36 to 51 miles from Saigon in areas where American troops battled the Reds Tuesday and turned up a cache containing nearly four tons of guerrilla supplies.

A column of U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment tanks sweeping an infiltration route 45 miles northwest of the capital Tuesday fought a two-hour battle with Communist troops and reported killing 16 of them.

Military spokesmen in Saigon said the American troopers lost 16 men wounded and had a helicopter shot down in the fighting. The two helicopter crewmen suffered wounds, war communiques said.

40 Reds Killed

It was one of three skirmishes up and down South Vietnam which cost the Communists at least 40 men killed, the U.S.

Command said. Allied losses were listed as light.

Nearby, 32 miles northwest of Saigon, infantrymen of the U.S. 25th Division turned up a cache weighing nearly four tons. They said it contained two tons of salt, one ton of rice and assorted weaponry including 25 antitank mines.

Two major American camps in that area northwest of Saigon were among the Communist targets for overnight rocket and mortar salvos, military spokesmen said. They were a camp near Tay Ninh City and the U.S. 1st Infantry Division camp at Quan Loi, neither of which were seriously damaged.

School Figures in Paltz Talks

NEW PALTZ, at the college's main auditorium.

The Crisis in Urban Education will be the theme of a lecture at State University College, New Paltz, featuring three leading figures in the New York City school strike as guest speakers.

Albert Shanker, Dr. Milton Galamison and the Rev. Herbert Oliver will be speakers on successive nights—April 21, 22, and 23. Dr. Galamison will be the speaker Monday, Shanker Tuesday and the Rev. Mr. Oliver on Wednesday. All three lectures will be given 7:30 p.m.

He was awarded a Doctor of Divinity degree by Lincoln University in 1961 and holds the master of theology degree from Princeton Theological Seminary. He is pastor of Siloam Presbyterian Church, one of the largest in the New York City area.

Shanker, a controversial figure in school disputes, entered the New York City Civil Jail in December to serve a 15-day sentence imposed for violating a no-strike injunction during the three-week teacher work stoppage last September.

He has been associated with union posts since the late 1950's and is on the board of directors of the New York City Council of Economic Education and vice-president of the Jewish Labor Committee.

Shanker was asked recently to serve on the advisory committee of Urban Education for the Council of Christian Social Action of the United Church of Christ.

The 40-year-old Shanker has completed courses for a PhD in philosophy at Columbia University but has not completed his doctoral thesis because of teaching career and other activities.

Signup for Summer Work Slated

By WALTER S. CLARK

Ulster County youths from 14 years up are urged to apply for summer work at the Ulster County Community Action Committee, Inc., pre-vocation center at 58 Broadway, where application forms are available.

Edward Brown of the UCCAC will be at the Center office weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. to assist young people in filling out applications and discussing employment for which they are best adapted. Brown said now is the time for youths to apply for jobs for the summer months to earn money for their recreational needs and other necessities.

The project of providing jobs for young people is being carried out by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the Community Action Committee.

Communications were sent out by the Chamber of Commerce urging business, including the small business operations, to cooperate in the summer job project to provide an opportunity for the youth of the county to better themselves and at the same time engage in work of their choice.

Approximately 120 youngsters were placed locally through the summer job program of the Community Action Committee last year. Completely aside from the good this program did the community, especially in the Rondout Urban Renewal Area, those who participated as employers can attest to the fact that their experience with the individual young people involved, proved satisfactory.

The youth of the county are capable of doing good work in jobs that are made available through the summer work program, and without the program for the young people much of the needed work would remain undone during summer months while regular employees are on vacation.

The Chamber of Commerce notes that the possibility exists that the YMCA-sponsored Neighborhood Youth Corps program may not be undertaken this year due to lack of federal appropriations. In that event, the Chamber points out, the need would be even greater this year than last.

With the Chamber letter to all members and businesses, a youth summer job survey form is attached, requesting information that is needed in placing youth in the jobs.

Many survey forms have been returned with the type of jobs that are available for young people during the summer vacation period. All businesses in the county are urged to come forward and participate in the worthwhile project, so that a sufficient number of jobs will be available to fit the needs of the young applicants.

Further information regarding the program may be obtained at the Community Action pre-vocation Center on lower Broadway. The cooperation of all businesses is urged, and youths are especially asked to report at the center and discuss job possibilities with the staff of workers.

600 Children to Benefit

KINGSTON About 600 Ulster County children, teenagers and senior citizens will benefit from the announced grant of $14,048 for a special summer program for the local Community Action Committee.

News of the grant came from the office of Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. which stated that the money will be used for tutorial and recreational programs in the upper Kingston area and for a recreational program for Ellenville and southern Ulster County.

Project director Eddie Parker said that he is hopeful the Community Action three-month program will mesh with the Kingston recreational program areas in order to avoid duplication.

He said about a dozen adults will be working on a paid basis and there is need for about a dozen volunteers.

The tutorial program will include educational games for the smaller children and trips will be planned for senior citizens.

The project in the southern end of the county will be carried out in Plattekill, Ellenville, Highland and other areas.

In the past the Kingston program was based at the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church and Parker is hopeful of securing the facility again.

Consumer's Advocate

President Nixon affirmed the high priority he gives consumer interests by his appointment of Mrs. Virginia H. Knauer of Philadelphia as full-time special assistant to the President for consumer affairs. Describing herself as an activist, Mrs. Knauer immediately promised to be the consumer's advocate and to give the consumer a voice at the highest level of government.

The new Presidential assistant comes to her federal post from nearly a year as director of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Consumer Protection. Called a "sharp buyer" herself, who does her own household shopping, Mrs. Knauer will now seek to protect the interests of millions of American women who also look for bargains and carefully read the guarantees.

Mrs. Knauer likes to act as a catalyst on people around her. One example of her effectiveness occurred in her home town. She and her husband, Wilhelm H. Knauer, a prosperous corporation lawyer, set up the Knauer Foundation for Historic Preservation to save two 18th century houses in colonial Philadelphia that were threatened with demolition. The buildings were restored, furnished with period antiques and opened to the public as a pre-Revolutionary museum.

There is a need for consumer information as well as protection. Mrs. Knauer will serve her country well if she disseminates useful consumer information, as well as protects consumer interests, especially among the poor, the elderly and the ignorant. In her present position, she can help make life pleasanter and more rewarding for all of us.

Abused Children

Worse, much worse than the man who takes candy from babies is the brute who beats them within an inch of their lives. One horrible example has been uncovered in New York recently of a fatal beating which has outraged the community. Its anger has turned not alone on the perpetrator but on the family court that callously turned over a child from the safety of the founding hospital and the child's foster parents to her mother, whose husband has been accused of the murder of his step child.

As a result, the New York State Assembly Judiciary Committee has prepared what is believed to be the nation's bill of rights for abused children. Charging that the child's case was mishandled by the family court and all other agencies involved, the legislative committee proposes an overhaul of family court procedures, the revision of amending of all state laws dealing with child abuse and neglect and the gathering and use of all pertinent information in such cases.

Many persons who have reason to suspect child abuse—including hospital personnel, school teachers and social workers who see battered children—do not report the incident. The child-protection legislation offers immunity for those providing information. A bill of rights for abused children should be a nationwide concern.

Dr. William Haddon Jr., first head of the Transportation Department's highway safety program, has simply transferred his activities to the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety. He will be president of the group which seeks to reduce human and property losses on the nation's highways.

For two years, Congress gave President Nixon the same powers it had given his predecessors since the Eisenhower Administration—a measure giving him authority to initiate organizational changes within the Federal Government. Used boldly, it could remake the sprawling government bureaucracy.

David Lawrence Says

Supreme Court Decision Perplexes School Boards

WASHINGTON — Congress, in a 1968 law, forbade utilization of federal funds as a means of coercing public-school systems to bus students or take other action in order to "overcome racial imbalance." The Supreme Court has ruled against deliberate segregation but has not, in effect, compelled "integration" in the schools where racial proportions vary according to residential circumstances. The school boards of the country nevertheless are perplexed as to what they can and cannot do.

Dr. Carl F. Hansen won high praise as superintendent of schools in Washington, D. C., when he put an end to intentional segregation of public schools in the nation's capital following the "desegregation" decision of the Supreme Court in May 1954. He continued to work toward integration for more than a decade, but retired in 1967 rather than comply with an opinion rendered by Judge J. Skelly Wright of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Dr. Hansen on his own initiative has just written an article on the situation. It is published in the current issue of "U.S. News & World Report," and he says in part:

"If you live in a small Nevada town — or in one in Iowa or Ohio, for that matter — and your schools are mostly white, you may actually be flouting a court ruling that says that racially imbalanced schools run against the Constitution of the United States.

"If your schools have all white facilities, you may someday be ordered to hire 13 per cent black teachers to make the percentage fit in with the ratio of blacks to whites in the national population.

"If you live in a city like Washington, D. C., or Chicago, you may someday have to see to it that the proportion of the poor in any school does not exceed the percentage of the poor in the entire city.

"If you refuse to attempt to get a balance between the poor and the nonpoor in your schools through voluntary exchanges across school-district and even state lines, you may find yourself in contempt of court.

"You may find your own child someday inexplicably 'volunteering' to ride a bus out of your neighborhood for the kind of social and racial integration some of the nation's leaders think is best for everybody — except possibly for themselves."

Dr. Hansen says that these requirements may ultimately result from a doctrine of "de jure integration," which means integration imposed by judicial edict or law. He points out that Judge Wright did not confine himself merely to racial factors but dealt with "social imbalance as well," and that the ruling had overridden the conclusions of at least eight federal courts which had said that it is not the duty of a board of education to eliminate segregation arising from natural causes.

Dr. Hansen describes the situation in the school systems in various parts of the country. He cites what happened in New York City where, four and a half years ago, two schools, one mostly white and the other Negro, were "paired" with the promise that the race ratio would be 65 per cent whites and 35 per cent blacks in each of the two schools today the white enrollment is down to 35 per cent in each. He adds:

"Washington, D. C., is an example of very rapid changes in race ratios over a period of a few years. From 1950 to 1967, the white school membership dropped from 46,736 to 11,784, while the black membership jumped from 47,980 to 139,364.

"Enrollment figures show that formerly all-white Washington, D. C., public schools invariably moved to 75 per cent black membership two years after the 50 per cent point was reached. In each such school, the black membership quickly moved thereafter to 99 per cent.

"The new and important discovery was that when a formerly all-white school approached 30 per cent black membership, the rate of change increased. Within two years, the black membership reached the 50 per cent point, from which it moved to 75 per cent within the next two years. The important finding is that the starting point for rapid white exodus is 30 per cent.

"A police state with unlimited enforcement power will be needed to implement integration if it is required by law."

The emphasis at first was placed on eliminating intentional segregation. The courts have been reluctant, however, to say that, if a school district happens to be in a predominantly white or Negro area, it is obliged to bus children from other parts of the city or suburbs to bring about a "racial balance." Now the question is arising as to how far the states and cities, or their own accord and in response to local demands, will find themselves moving in the direction of artificial "integration."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

There was a white-headed beer standing in its own stain on the bar and the late sun was reaching across the fairways with long gold fingers. We looked at it awhile, making small talk, and I said to Oscar Fraley, who wears a face with a certified smile: "I don't know why we never met before this. We know the same people — the Bob Brumbys, the Don Cuddys."

"One of those things," he said, holding a hand over the glass as the bartender tried to give him a refill. Fraley is a great sports writer, a man of talent. Some of the golfers, Gene Kroll, Milt Goldstand and others who had bled in the traps all day, sat listening and nodding.

I asked Fraley if he had ever been broke, really busted down to the Sox. He nodded. I said I was so broke about 15 years ago that I owed the butcher $300. He was an Irishman, a graduate of St. Peter's College, and I kept running the bill up until one day Barney Finn said: "You're into me for three hundred. All I ask is for that you don't switch butchers. If one of us has to lie awake worrying, let it be me."

Nobody wanted to buy anything I could write. I had personal loans from four companies and made a loan from a fifth just to keep up the payments on the other four. We had the finest steaks and chops from Finn's butcher shop and I returned to a 24-year project, a book called "The Day Lincoln Was Shot." There was nothing else to do.

Harper published it and what! The family was rich. It made the Book of the Month Club, Reader's Digest condensation, 16 foreign languages, and we paid off Finn and everyone else, and cleared the mortgage on the house and, just to show how rich we were, bought a second-hand Cadillac.

Oscar Fraley was listening and laughing, and Goldstand was nodding at his cola drink and waving his cigar like a benediction from a pope. "I was busted once," Oscar said. "I mean really broke."

He had worked his way into and out of the lives of two wives (never marry a writer unless you appreciate a lack of logic) and he was working on a television series which no one wanted to buy. The difference between Oscar and me was that the only credit he had was that Toots Shor's restaurant. The two men had grown up poor a block from each other in South Philadelphia.

Fraley was passing a blind alley when a man stepped out of the darkness and stuck a cannon in his ribs. "Gimmie your money," the holdup man said. For some reason known only to suicides this struck Oscar Fraley as funny. He looked at the robber's face and broke down laughing. The more he laughed, the funnier the situation became and he bent double until tears came to his eyes.

The man held the gun on him and fanned Fraley's clothing. Two dimes "Honest?" the robber said. "Just a lousy 20 cents?" Fraley stopped laughing and wiped his eyes. "It's everything I have in the world," he said. The man with the gun stuck the two dimes back in Oscar Fraley's pocket. "All right," he growled, "but from now on, stay out of my territory."

Fraley said he would be happy to comply, but would he be out of order to ask a favor. "Like what?" the gunman said. Fraley lowered his hands. "Like I need a buck to get home," he said. It was the robber's turn to laugh. "You would touch me for a buck?" he said. The writer nodded yes.

The criminal emitted a long sigh, took a roll of bills out of his pocket and peeled a single from it. "Here," he said. Fraley took it, thanked him, and hailed a cab. He drove home in style. The fare was 75 cents and he gave the taxi driver a fat 25 cent tip.

The next morning his agent phoned. "Good news, Oscar," he said. "We just sold your television series. You're a rich man. It will be called 'The Untouchables'..."

Drew Pearson Says

Automobile Safety Begins To Look Like Losing Battle

WASHINGTON — Much of the progress made toward auto safety may go down the drain thanks to industry-minded bureaucracy inside the Federal Highway Administration, now headed by Francis C. Turner.

Turner is a well meaning bureaucrat of long standing, a close friend of John Volpe, the new Secretary of Transportation, and the darling of the highway lobby. He wants more and more highways. Auto safety ranks lower than highways on his priority list.

Under Turner, some of the key advocates of highway safety have become disillusioned and are leaving. Reasons for their disillusionment:

1. Turner has stopped the car crash testing program. Volkswagens had been through the tests; Opels, Renaults, Fiats and other cars were ready to be crash-tested last week to see if they conformed to safety standards. Suddenly Turner stopped the tests.

2. Reversed the policy of banning secret meetings with industry groups. Turner has given the green light to a new series of highly secret meetings. He believes in the closed door when it comes to auto safety.

3. Seemingly resigned to a traffic toll that kills 150 people daily and injures 10,000 daily. Turner has shown no enthusiasm for tackling this mounting death toll nor is he dismayed by the low budget granted for highway safety. Today the government is spending a mere $35 million in three years for safety standards, safety research and safety enforcement. In one year, the federal government spends $34 million to protect migratory birds.

Meanwhile, Turner approved a $500,000 contract to place cameras above the National Press Building in order to wait for a crash to occur so that the origins of crashes could be photographed. This is more money than has been spent on the entire experimental car project, in fact more than has been spent on brake or plant inspection.

Government Lawyers
Clark Clifford's return to his old law firm and the prospect that Attorney General John Mitchell will return to the Nixon law firm suggests that a new rule — or law — is necessary to regulate government lawyers.

It is now the law that lawyers who have held jobs in Internal Revenue, the Justice Department and certain other agencies are prohibited from handling cases on which they worked while in government until two years after leaving government.

The law should be extended to prohibit government officials from returning to their law firms after leaving government.

For instance, what is to prevent various Wall Street firms from switching their practice to the Nixon-Mitchell firm now, knowing that this would indirectly benefit two very important partners, the President and the Attorney General, after they leave government to return to their law firms?

Or a defense contractor could have retained the Clifford firm when he was Secretary of Defense, with the idea that Clifford would benefit after he left government and rejoined his firm.

Actually, the three men mentioned above would lean over backwards if anything like this developed while they were in government. But lesser officials might not. Furthermore such a rule would strengthen the current position of Attorney General Mitchell in regard to such clients as El Paso Natural Gas, which has paid the Nixon law firm $771,000 between 1961-67. Public knowledge that Mitchell could not return to his old law firm would put him in a stronger position regarding El Paso, even though the recent dismissal of the antitrust suit involving El Paso was made by Solicitor General Erwin Griswold.

Clark Clifford, who did a superb job as Secretary of Defense and made it clear that he, not the generals, was running the Pentagon, has now returned to his old law firm. It handled such important clients as Du Pont, the Pennsylvania Railroad, Phillips Petroleum, plus other defense contractors.

When Clifford first moved into the Pentagon, he went through the customary ritual of cutting all ties with his firm. His former associates — John Sharon, Carson Glass, Samuel McIlwain and Tom Finney, Jr. — formed a new firm without their star. They lost a few clients, of course, who had been attracted by Clifford's personal magnetism and skill at influencing people in high places.

After relinquishing the Pentagon to Secretary Melvin Laird, Clifford returned to his former firm and, with a leonine toss of his handsome iron gray mane, announced that he was back. This caused some private grumping and hasty realignments. John Sharon barged off to practice law on his own. But the other partners elected to accept the old arrangements, giving Clifford once again the lion's share of the spoils.

To replace Sharon, Clifford invited Assistant Secretary of Defense Warnke to join the firm, which for the past few weeks has been known as Clifford, Warnke, Glass, McIlwain and Finney. Already, the lost clients have started to return.

Clifford is scrupulously ethical, but would be in a stronger position if the law had barred return to his old firm.

Aged Get Bulk of Assistance

U.S. Shrugs Off Urban Youth

By BRUCE BISSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Whatever domestic programs President Nixon comes up with this year, they seem unlikely to involve really big money for the cities and, most particularly, for the young.

One of the discoveries the Nixon administration has made is that even if the $30 billion a year Vietnam war were to end soon and this country's impressive economic growth were to continue apace, there would not be great sums available for huge new programs.

In a January analysis, this reporter reached this conclusion simply by comparative budget studies.

Those comparisons showed that at the federal-state-local levels, as indicated by official figures, total social welfare costs — broadly defined to include not only welfare but health, education and related spending — are today in the range of $130 billion a year.

Some $60 billion of that total represents increases of the past seven years, with $40 billion of the rise coming at the federal level.

Conservative projections suggested that built-in escalations, tied to head counts and inevitably affected by inflation, would produce further steep rises in the next few years. The forecast therefore was that the "peace and growth" dividend, whether $20 billion or more, would be quickly soaked up by existing programs.

This is the present judgment of high Nixon officials. Anticipated money, under even the most hopeful circumstance of an end to the war, is largely "spoken for" in the years just ahead.

The most astonishing thing, however, is where that money will be going under established and foreseeable provisions of law. The chief beneficiaries are to be the aged.

The big boomer is Medicare and related health expense, which are figured to rise to at least $20 billion within a year and a half, as compared with roughly $16 billion today. It is said that some 50 per cent of this projected rise will represent "price increases" in drugs, hospital services, etc. Medicare affects 20 million eligible Americans over age 65.

The Social Security system, whose payroll taxes are also financing much of Medicare, already is paying out some $27 billion annually to 25 million Americans — one in every eight — for old age and survivors' insurance. The President is expected to ask for still higher payments this year.

What puts all this in stunning perspective is an administration comparison between federal outlays for Americans in the "upper dependency" bracket (over 65) and those in the lower bracket (under 21).

For the fiscal year starting this July, it is expected that the outlay per person 65 and over will be $1,750, while that for the American under 21 will be a mere $190.

To some in the Nixon administration, this immense disparity is crushing in light of the fact that much of today's urban ferment concerns the untrained, unemployed, restless young — and especially the young black American.

It is the young Negroes, compacted in the inner cores of the major U.S. cities, who stand at the heart of the "urban problem." Even though federal education spending is soaring (it will reach beyond $9 billion next fiscal year as compared with $3.1 billion in 1964), the young blacks are not being drawn in.

In time this difficulty may be eased somewhat by shifting population trends. Average annual increase of Negroes in central cities has declined from 370,000 in the 1960-66 period to 111,000 in 1966-68. Moreover, Negro outflow to suburbs now nearly matches city increases. Ultimately, too, a dropping Negro birth rate may soften pressures, though this consequence may be two decades off.

But, for the year just ahead, the trends offer little comfort. The problems of the urban young — health, education, jobs — are acute and unmet. Yet, as the administration has learned, the future big money is committed to the upper end of the age spectrum.

Dog Ordinances

Editor, The Freeman

Who is to blame for the failure of local dog ordinances and the related neglect of enforcement of state dog licensing law?

Section 113 in Article 7 of the New York State Agriculture and Markets law is specific on the subject of action to be taken on delinquent dog owners. Up to this time it has been the practice to blame the Ulster County S.P.C.A. and dog wardens for lack of animal control, and the large numbers of untagged dogs. The truth of the matter is, the outright refusal of City and Town Officials to enforce state licensing law as required by said law is the basic reason for the breakdown in animal control.

Agents and officers of the Ulster County S.P.C.A. have time and again brought this matter to the attention of the officials responsible, and have been ignored in each instance.

Therefore, I have strongly recommended that this organization take the following action in order to force the required recognition of state dog licensing laws to our local officials.

That the S.P.C.A. terminate all dog warden services to areas where state licensing laws are obviously being ignored.

That agents of the S.P.C.A. refrain from any acts tending to involve the organization in the enforcement of useless local dog ordinances.

And if necessary, to supply nets to certain of the clerks and judges so that they may chase the dogs that have been neglectfully allowed to remain unlicensed.

The Ulster County S.P.C.A. is, after all, a humane organization, chartered by the state, and recognized by the county as such.

We are defeating our own purposes, overloading our own facilities, and rapidly becoming the public executioners for the flood of unwanted animals, most of which are supplied by officially protected persons, encouraged to promote further problems for the S.P.C.A. and the public in general.

I sincerely believe that this organization should return to basic animal welfare activities, and discontinue the practice of wasting time and effort trying to clear up a condition caused by inept or disinterested officials.

Kingston Chapter 383
Parents Without Partners
April 15, 1969

Editor, The Freeman
A group of 30 people, Members of Kingston Chapter Parents Without Partners 383, and their offsprings, met at the Bonanza Bank Branch Bank to attend, in my opinion, a most eye-opening and rewarding showing of a film on narcotics.

I wonder how many of us, as parents, fully realize what a group of dedicated men we are fortunate to have pulling for us, the people of Ulster County? Mr. Thomas Mayone of the District Attorney's Office, Narcotic Bureau, graciously offered his services by showing this film and held an open question and answer period afterwards.

Our children reacted—did they ever!!! A definite impression was made by Mr. Mayone and what he had to say to the youngsters, as well as to the parents.

On behalf of our organization, may I please extend a heart-felt thanks to Mr. Mayone, Lt. Lemuel Howard and the entire Law Enforcement Departments for the magnificent job they are doing in behalf of the youth of our Community. I know to me, it means a great deal to know we have these men on duty, working for our sons and daughters. God Bless you all.

Uptown Post Office
Kingston, N. Y.
April 14, 1969

Editor, The Freeman:

In this writer's opinion the most fitting name for the recreational park, now in progress of building out Wittenburg way, in Woodstock, would be THE KENNETH L. WILSON PARK. Yes, he worked long and steadily to have the park right where it will be. It would appear it is an accomplished fact, and even the name has been chosen for it by common consent.

There were, around eight or nine years ago, a few families and individuals owning property to be used for and near the park that didn't want it and worked against it. There were a very few—in fact the writer happens to be the only one I know of—who did not own property to be affected by this park. Her voice was heard persistently, factually, and not to avail for a matter of a year or more. Her voice was heard, too, concerning the thought that this town of Woodstock needed, critically, a "forever wild" park.

Were I to have been able to look ahead to this year of 1969, I wouldn't have been inclined to believe in my gift of prophecy—but I know I would state more emphatically now than I did back then there were and are now very few who are capable of foresight or analytical thought.

Mr. Wilson will take satisfaction, the writer knows, in viewing the main highway out to the park and the business that it brings to Woodstock and the area. That strip of road and its business could well be named for him too.

But, funny thing, I'd rather have been on my side, the one that didn't want her daughter's birthplace to come to be known as CONEY ISLAND-IN-THE-CATSKILLS—the one on the side of the millions of animals to which the land going, or gone into this park belonged to, which tragic wildlife is a commonplace to all those who accept over-industrialization, over-population, suburbia, and the vanished Woodstock.

May former Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson receive the just rewards for his work in bringing this recreation park to the Woodstock area!

Sincerely yours,

The person who has brought about the removal of the layer of asphalt on the concrete surface of the Boulevard is really to be complimented. In my opinion, if the minor poor spots in the concrete had been filled with asphalt and then hot liquid tar sprayed on the entire surface of the concrete road and followed with a generous spray of granular stone dust, I doubt very much if all the unpleasant experiences withstood would have resulted. I say this because local road construction contractors in 1934 made an excellent concrete road job in constructing the full length of the Boulevard. In fact, insofar as I can remember, they made a much better job of it than an out of state contractor made as a concrete job, Route 32 south of Kingston for a distance of approximately seven miles.

'Miring Down' in Vietnam
Route 5, Box 63
Kingston, N. Y.
April 8, 1969

Editor, The Freeman

I read your editorials regularly, and on the whole they are thought provoking. However, once in a while an editorial is released that does not seem to be of your usual caliber. Monday was one of those exceptions. (4-6-69)

It appears to be the custom now days to pan the administration concerning the "miring down" of the war in Vietnam—without giving our leaders the benefit of knowing what they are doing. There must be myriad facets of the war that are not publishable, for the safety and good of our people. Yet, we write and speak as though we should have all the answers from our government, and publicize the information for the benefit of our enemies.

The whole tenor of articles written like yours is that we should fold up our tents and go home when the going begins to get rough, and leave the rest of the world to the communists—and it would surely go that way, providing it even stops there!

The last part of your editorial does not sound like your paper. Quoting: "In the meantime, we have accelerated our ground activities and the enemy has fired back. This could go on and on." I cannot believe this statement. Who has accelerated their ground activities? I thought it was done by the enemy!

The last paragraph is equally not understandable.

I believe in our Government, as I believe you do, and I will stand with my Country and with the brave men fighting for the resistance in the spread of Communism. On the front page of the paper that same day, was a report of two military leaders. Your headline stated: "Restraints Prevents Win."

I cannot help but believe that the kind of writing similar to the last half of your editorial has actually extended the war and cost many more lives of both the enemy and of our own men. The adversary is counting on the United States to become divided in our aims and in the ideals for which we stand.

I would be interested to know if all editorials are prepared locally, or are some of them prepared by writers out side the area?

Sincerely yours,
HAROLD VAN ALLEN

Editor's Note: Freeman editorials on all subjects, including the Vietnam War which has our country sorely divided, are written locally and are published to the end that readers may draw at will on them in forming their own opinion.

Highland Establishes Voter Registration

HIGHLAND the school district. In response to charges of At a meeting Tuesday night voting irregularities during a the board of the Highland recent school bond issue vote, Highland Board of Education, has established procedures to permanently register voters in procedures for permanent voter registration within the next four to six weeks. The decision to establish voter registration in the school district was prompted by allegations made during the last meeting by board member, Donald Halstead, that some non-residents of the district had voted on the controversial Decker-Sandy bond issue. In this referendum voters soundly rejected one proposal and very narrowly defeated another to select a site for a much needed new elementary school.

Because facilities are lacking in the school district some elementary school children will be attending classes on split sessions, starting in September. According to Silvio Chaisson, a member of the board and chairman of the planning committee, since the voters seem to have a greater preference for a site on the Decker-Williams property (this proposal was defeated 563 to 557 in the disputed election) a new referendum will be held as soon as the permanent registration is completed.

Eisenhower: American Hero

Divergent Views

NEW YORK (UPI)—Was Dwight D. Eisenhower right or wrong when he vetoed a British plan to let Field Marshal Bernard Law Montgomery "go it alone" in a single thrust toward Berlin late in World War II?

Absolutely right, says Gen. Omar N. Bradley, who was a classmate of Eisenhower at West Point and one of his top commanders during World War II.

Wrong says Montgomery, now Viscount Montgomery of Alamein; the war might have been shortened if his plan had been adopted.

These divergent viewpoints are set forth in special articles by Bradley and Montgomery that will appear in "Eisenhower: American Hero," a special biography being published next week by American Heritage and United Press International.

Frank on Two Scores

Montgomery's recollections of Eisenhower are frank on two scores: his great personal admiration for Eisenhower as a diplomat and coordinator of a multi-national force, but reservations about his military ability.

"While I had a tremendous affection and admiration for Eisenhower, and will always acclaim him as a very great human being, I find it impossible to include him among the great captains of history," Montgomery writes. "But this can be said, and in no uncertain voice—nobody else could have carried the burden of supreme commander in the West in the way he did and keep the nations and warring tribes of generals and air marshals working together to the end. For this alone the world will always owe him a deep debt of gratitude."

In his recollections, Bradley describes Eisenhower's decision to go ahead with the cross-channel invasion on June 6 as his most difficult one.

"Another crucial decision," Bradley adds, "was whether or not we were going to let Montgomery make one single thrust north of the Ruhr toward Berlin. Ike was under terrific pressure from the British to let Montgomery go it alone, and he took a long time to make that decision. I think he felt Montgomery was wrong from the first, but he needed some backing on it, and he finally got it from the American chiefs of staff. So we advanced on a broad front. I personally think it would have been a great mistake to let Montgomery have his way. Suppose they had hit him in the flank with the 26 divisions they hit us with in the Ruhr? They'd have ruined him."

Historians Will Argue

Montgomery conceded that historians will argue for years about the proper strategy for the Western Allies following their victory in Normandy.

"My views have often been expressed; they have never changed," Montgomery writes. "Eisenhower did not agree. He said the whole Allied line must advance on a broad front, from Switzerland to the North Sea, until the situation became clear. I pointed out that our logistic resources could not nourish such a movement. We would nowhere be strong enough to get decisive results quickly; the Germans would be given time to recover, and our advance would peter out; the war would go on into 1945, with all that would entail politically vis-a-vis the Russians advancing from the East; the additional loss of life would be severe."

The main text of the 144-page UPI-American Heritage volume was written by Kenneth S. Davis, historian and writer of earlier books on Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson.

Moose Sale Good For Gray Dinner

KINGSTON—Albert J. Eisele of Kingston Lodge 970, Loyal Order of Moose, today reported a brisk sale of tickets for the testimonial dinner for Gilbert E. Gray who has been selected the 1969 Man of the Year by the Lodge.

The dinner will be held Saturday, April 19 at 7 p.m. at the Moose Hall on Prince Street. Presentation of the award will be a feature of the event.

John Ray Mayone has been named master of ceremonies because of his close association with the guest of honor in promoting and conducting the Ulster County Young Marines organization, which now has 11 platoons.

Annual Presentation

Tickets may be obtained by contacting Eisele, general chairman of the awards dinner committee at his home, or by calling the Moose Hall. Early reservations are urged.

The Man of the Year award is an annual presentation by the Moose Lodge for outstanding civic service. "Gil Gray has earned this high honor with a long history of involvement in the civic and veterans activities in Kingston and throughout Ulster County," Eisele said. It is anticipated that representatives of many organizations in which Gray has been active will attend the dinner and join the Moose members and officers in paying tribute to the guest of honor, the chairman commented. A delegation of boys from the Young Marines will be present, with Jack Kerbert, commandant of the Ulster Detachment of the Marine Corps League, parent organization of the Young Marines.

Gray was a founder of the boys organization in the county. He is State Commandant of the Marine Corps League, commanding officer of the Young Marines, and is the operator of Doctors Ambulance Service in this area.

Other Holders

Other recipients of the Moose Man of the Year Award have been Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, Joseph J. Kelly, former city editor of The Kingston Freeman, former Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, Sheriff William Martin and the late Bob Browning, radio news commentator.

Italian Prisons - Tension, Protests

ROME (AP) — Italian prisons simmered with tension and protest today after riots in jails in Turin, Milan, Genoa and Bari.

In the latest uprising, at Bari on the southern Adriatic coast, about 150 prisoners set fire to the infirmary and the tailor shop Tuesday and defied police for hours before they were needed back to their cells.

Other prisons rang with shouts of solidarity for the rioters who wrecked prisons at Turin and Milan before they were forced to surrender. More than 2,000 of these rioters were transferred in chains and handcuffs to some 20 other jails across the nation, creating tinderbox situations in their new lodging places.

The prison revolts started at Turin Saturday after a false rumor that guards had killed three prisoners. But for months prisoners have demanded a revision of the penal code; bigger, warmer and cleaner cells; better food and more fresh air. News of the Turin outbreak fueled unrest at other jails.

More than 1,300 prisoners rioted at Milan's San Vittorino prison Sunday and Monday, damaging much of the compound beyond repair. A riot in the Genoa pris-

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened mixed today in moderately active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI stock market indicator was off 0.14 per cent on 386 issues traded. Of these, 154 declined and 126 advanced.

Steels and electronics were irregular, as were oils. Motors eased.

Armco and Bethlehem gained $\frac{1}{8}$ and $\frac{1}{16}$, respectively, among the steels, but Youngstown Sheet dipped $\frac{1}{8}$. U.S. Steel eased $\frac{1}{16}$.

Litton picked up $\frac{1}{8}$ in the electronics, with RCA up $\frac{1}{16}$. IBM and Honeywell added $\frac{1}{16}$ apiece, but General Electric backed off $\frac{1}{16}$.

In the oils, Atlantic Richfield rose $\frac{1}{8}$. Cities Service and Gulf dropped $\frac{1}{16}$ and $\frac{1}{8}$, in that order.

Chrysler was unchanged in its group after losing more than a point Tuesday on sharply reduced earnings. General Motors, however, gave up $\frac{1}{16}$, with Ford and American Motors down $\frac{1}{16}$ each.

Senate Delays Action On Allen Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate action on New York State Education Commissioner James E. Allen's nomination for U.S. Commissioner of Education has been put off until next week.

Allen drew strong bipartisan praise Tuesday when he appeared before the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

President Nixon designated Allen, state commissioner for 14 years, as his choice for federal commissioner and as an assistant secretary of health, education and welfare.

In response to a question from Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R - N.Y., Allen told the committee he hopes to help solve complaints which have precipitated unrest and disorders on college campuses.

He said he personally has opposed "punitive measures" in dealing with students. "I do not condone violence and destruction by students," Allen said. "I think that must be dealt with promptly."

"But I do think we must be willing to listen to the concerns of the students...I feel that we have a very definite role to play in this area."

Allen told Javits he is aware that college and university administrators bear the basic responsibility for handling student unrest.

But he said he hoped the U.S. Office of Education, which he would head, can play "a positive role" in assisting them.

Allen also told the senators he still believes that the best education comes from a racially integrated educational setting and that, if necessary, children should be bused to achieve it.

He said he knew, however, that federal laws forbid use of federal funds for busing, but such a program could be urged on localities if it were the only way to overcome racial imbalance.

Rondout Board Votes Teaching Method Revision

KYSERIKE — A committee report on elementary mathem "ics" procedures in the Rondout Valley Central School System was discussed and approved by the RVC Board of Education here Tuesday evening, calling for a revision in the teaching method for kindergarten through fourth grade.

The report, compiled over the past year, and the committee's recommendations for possible changes in the math teaching program, was approved as presented by the committee, according to John Basken, board clerk.

The only other major piece of work taken up by the board at its brief meeting was the acceptance "with extreme regret" of the resignation of Mrs. Elizabeth Royce, special education teacher for mentally retarded children.

The board noted that the woman had served as a dedicated teacher as it approved the request to take effect in June.

Rosary Society Plans Activity

The Rosary Altar Society of St. Peter's Parish of Rosendale met for its regular monthly meeting last week.

Mrs. John Tracy of Tillson was welcomed as a new member.

Those wishing to attend are urged to make reservations early as seating facilities are limited. Tickets may be obtained from any society member and all members are asked to report on ticket sales by telephone to Mrs. William Tocherman, chairman by April 26 so that the number of reservations may be given to the hotel.

New Paltz Rites

To Mark Gandhi Date

NEW PALTZ. The Indian emancipator was noted for his long hard hours of work and prayer; and in spite of his own power and influence among the world's greatest leaders, he was known for his simple and quiet living in his efforts to achieve, by moral and non-violent means, the political, social, and economic ends he sought. He loved the art of painting; he admired the world's architectural masterpieces; he was a friend of poets, and he loved music. He also revived village industries and initiated action on both in India and South Africa to secure the rights of his fellow Indians.

His action in the field of human rights — through non-violence and non-compliance with laws he recognized as unjust and unfair — influenced Martin Luther King Jr. in his country in the Nobel peace prize winner's efforts to bring freedom to his fellow blacks. The Gandhi influence is expected to be felt for decades and probably centuries after the centennial commemoration of his birth.

The New Paltz College's interest in Gandhi stems from its emphasis on Asian studies. The College offers more than a dozen courses about India and a number of its faculty members were born there or have studied, worked, or taught in that country.

Community Needs Red Hook Topic

RED HOOK tained in one way or another if really needed," Horn said. Last year, when Red Hook wanted to start a Head Start program, there were not enough children who warranted the action to begin it. Mention was made of beginning the same program this year, but it is highly unlikely, especially in the wake of President Nixon's cutbacks in the program and severing of its connections with the Office of Economic Opportunity.

A day care center for indigent and migrant families' children was a major concern of those present. "A twelve hour facility is deemed necessary," said Horn, "in order to be truly effective."

Guest moderator was James Horn of the Neighborhood Service Organization, who stressed that it must first be determined exactly what problems exist, if any, which might request the services of the Community Services organization. "Funding for any proposed services, if not available from organized sources, can be ob-

Two Lectures Will Feature Sunday Open House at UCCC

STONE RIDGE He has been active in writing poetry and has won three previous contests with his poems, including the Hallmark Poetry Prize.

A resident of Kingston, he attended Union Junior College and received his B. A. Degree in English from Newark State College. He obtained his M. A. Degree in English from Montclair State College and has taken additional courses in English at New York University.

Also a resident of Kingston, Carroll has a B. A. Degree from Boston College and an M. A. Degree from the University of Nebraska. He is interested in psycho-linguistics and plans to move into the area of semantics.

Carroll is interested in flying and at U.C.C.C. has served as faculty advisor to the Judo Club and has assisted with the Ski Club.

The Open House, planned from 2 to 5 p.m., will give the public an opportunity to see how the college is helping to meet the higher educational needs in the county.

In an effort to illustrate actual classroom procedures, two English faculty members at Ulster County Community College will present lectures at an Open House planned at the College Sunday, April 20.

The two are James J. Clarke and Robert J. Carroll, both instructors of English at the College.

The instructors will present lectures to interested college students and members of the community, beginning at 3 p.m. in Room 415 of the John Burroughs Science Building.

Clarke will lecture first on "Language History," and Carroll will follow with a lecture on "American Literature."

Questions from students and visitors will be encouraged.

Recently, Clarke was named first prize winner in the 1968 National Poetry Contest Competition sponsored by the Arizona State Poetry Society.

Fire Trucks, Children - Danger

GLASCO trucks when they are responding to fire alarms. Several instances have been reported by fire officials involving such actions of young boys and girls, who are in danger of being injured if they get close to the moving fire apparatus.

The situation has become serious, especially because of the numerous runs made by fire trucks to the scene of grass or brush fires.

"We appeal to the parents, especially those residing in the Windemere, Barclay Heights, Simmons Plaza, Garden Circle and King's Village developments, to forbid their children from following the fire trucks," Chief Cafaldo said. "Not only does this practice endanger the children, but it delays firemen in many cases from arriving in areas where the fires occur."

Firm Introduces New Filter Unit

KINGSTON
A complete set of lube, oil, fuel, water, transmission and crankcase vent filters for an internal combustion diesel engine has been packaged in a single unit by WGB Oil Clarifiers, Inc. The company, a leading producer of vehicular engine filters, is producing these filter packages for all popular types of vehicular diesel engines.

By making such packages available, the company provides maintenance superintendents and other service personnel with a complete set of filters for scheduling regular changes. The service shop changes all of the filters on an engine at one time, thus assuring regular maintenance and avoiding omission of important filter replacements.

This all-at-once scheduling eliminates intermittent "red lining" of vehicles, lowers labor costs, simplifies inventories, and eliminates extra trips to the stock room for single filters.

For more information, write to WGB Oil Clarifier, Inc., Kingston.

They were married at St. Peter's Church, this city, on Easter Sunday, April 5, 1931 by the Rev. John P. Neumann. The couple has three daughters and 11 grandchildren: Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Gildersleeve, Lynette, Robbyn and Charla, all of Poughkeepsie; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Burr, William Jr., Maryann, Patricia, Thomas, Michael, Peter and John of Middletown; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Every and Raymond A. of Kingston.

A tour of Holland, from the unchanged centuries-old village of Marken to the rebuilt modern city of Rotterdam, will be shown through slides with comments by Mrs. H. Van Wyck Darrow after a brief 8 p.m. business meeting of the Evening Circle of the Women's Guild of the Hurley Reformed Church on Tuesday, April 22, refreshments will be served by Mrs. Joseph Kraniak and Mrs. Edward Kukuk, and all women of Hurley are invited. As the women of the Church and community are preparing for the annual Stone House Day (July 12), in which original homes of Dutch settlers in Hurley are open to the public by their present owners, this program should serve to give a contrast and background for the descendants of the settlers and current residents of New Dorp, or Hurley.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrow, with their daughter, Emily (then three and a half years old), spent two weeks in June 1968 traveling through the Netherlands, Belgium, Germany and England. In Wurzburg, Germany, after a Rhine River Cruise, they visited with Dr. and Mrs. Edelbert Brand whom Mrs. Darrow had met when she had been entertainment director with Special Services in Germany for two years.

Of particular interest to parents will be hints for traveling with youngsters, plus information on tours and special points of interest for budget-minded travelers. Last year Mrs. Darrow won an award for her suggestion published by "The Ladies Home Journal" to tag a child with the next destination in case he should become separated while the family tours.

In addition to the slides, Mrs. Darrow will display authentic clothing of old Holland, samples of delft and other Dutch specialties, thus settling the mood for the Dutch Day sale to be held on Stone House Day. Featured at the July event will be handmade articles and those reminiscent of the Dutch heritage of the area. Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. and workers and ideas from the community are welcome.

Varsity Players to Perform in Saugerties Sunday, Apr. 20 for Children's Theatre

Once again the Varsity Players will be in Saugerties for the Children's Theatre scheduled for Sunday, April 20. Varsity Players is the student theater organization of Brooklyn College. Apart from working on all the major productions at the college, members of Varsity have two major projects that are completely their own. The first of these is the Children's Show. This production travels to schools and recreation centers throughout the City of New York. The quality of the show is highly professional, because all the people involved take their work seriously. In this case, their work is to entertain children, and even the younger performers in the troupe act "as if they've been doing it all their lives. The cast is made up entirely of students, ranging from freshmen to people from the graduate division. Often the Children's Show provides the initial exposure for new people in the Theater Department. This year, Varsity Players presents "Sir Pans of Pots," a show that is unique in that it is totally student-produced. The original script, music, and lyrics were all written by students of Brooklyn College. And, of course, the director, cast and crew are all students. The president and vice-president of Varsity Players have major roles. Many may also recognize a few of the performers from last year's highly successful production of "Alice in Wonderland." Once an actor has experienced the joy of Children's Theater, he finds it hard not to go back. "Sir Pans of Pots" follows the adventures of Johnny, the young pots and pans salesman. When the King of Zoo asks for volunteers to rescue his daughter from the mean Ogre, Johnny is the only man in the kingdom who is brave enough to go. But the Ogre, and his wife the Witch, have placed many traps and hazards in Johnny's path. Nevertheless, the brave young man, accompanied by the lovable Wizard of Zoo, ventures into the enchanted forest to try to save the princess.

The play will be performed on Sunday at 2 p.m. on the stage of the Saugerties High School auditorium. The presentation is a community effort and admission is free. Free admission tickets have been distributed and will be required at the door. The Woman's Club of Saugerties is proud to have sponsored the Children's Theater project and to have the Varsity Players visit our community again.

Announcing the first car of the '70s at 1960 prices.

FORD MAVERICK $1995*

(You don't have to read it all-but it's nice to know it's all there.)

Most new cars look like other cars. But when the word gets out that something really different is on the way, rumors run wild. Few cars have caused as much talk as Maverick. Ford's new entry in the small car field rivals the economy imports in price . . . but tops them in power, performance, passenger room and luggage capacity. We've been bombarded with questions about Maverick. Now, for the first time, here are the answers.

Q. Why did you build the Maverick?

A. We think of Maverick as another one of Ford Motor Company's answers to the gold drain. Now Americans who want small car economy don't have to send their U.S. dollars overseas.

Q. Why did you call it Maverick?

A. You know what a maverick is. A maverick breaks the rules. A maverick is different. Maverick plugs the big gap between the compacts and the imports. It has a wheelbase eight inches shorter than a '69 Falcon, eight and one-half inches longer than a VW 1500. Nothing else like it.

Q. Why did you make it this size?

A. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. We gave Maverick more leg room. More shoulder room. More luggage room. Good example: the front seat of a Maverick offers you nine inches more shoulder room than the front seat of the leading economy import and its trunk can handle all the luggage for a family of four, including a set of golf clubs.

Q. What do I get for the price?

A. You get your money's worth. A complete, built-for-Americans kind of car. Room. Hot styling. Color-keyed interiors. Even the heater is included. Some economy car interiors are about as luxurious as a park bench. Not Maverick's. You get plush seats. Cloth and vinyl upholstery with unique tartan plaid cloth inserts. You also get safety features like smart pull-out door handles. Strong safety door locks. Two-speed electric wipers. Safety belts. Head restraints. Plus conveniences like armrests, coat hooks, lighted heater controls . . . important little things that add so much to your driving comfort.

Q. What about options?

A. You can get 'em if you want 'em. You can order integral air conditioning. (It's built in, not hung on.) Other options include 3-speed automatic or low-cost semiautomatic transmission, and a hefty 200 CID Six. But lots of people won't put an extra cent into this car. Because it's all there. A complete car all ready to drive home.

Q. What kind of gas mileage can I get?

A. That depends on you as well as the car. You can get as much as 25 or 26 miles per gallon—if you have an educated toe and the right road conditions. If you have a lead foot, or do a lot of city driving, you will get a lot less. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg.

Q. What kind of power does Maverick have?

A. Maverick's Six lets loose 105 galloping horses. That's 52 more than you get in the 4-cylinder VW 1500. Maverick can cover 417 feet in ten seconds from a standing start. That means you can get up to highway speed in a hurry. When you enter a 70 mph turnpike, you won't feel like a retired bookkeeper thrust into the middle of a pro football game.

Q. If it has an eight inch longer wheelbase than the leading import, does it still handle and park easily?

A. Maverick can U-turn in a tighter circle (35.6 feet) than the leading economy import (36.0 feet). Maverick can slant through traffic like a halfback. It can turn on a dime and give you nine cents change. If you've been driving any other American car, you'll find Maverick's neat size adds up to 5½ feet to any parking space.

Q. Can Detroit really build a small economy car that's tough and long lasting?

A. It's not easy, but we did it. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it light, strong and durable. It's welded like a battleship. Rustproofing compound goes into deep crevices that never see the light of day. Then all that strength is covered with four coats of paint for lasting beauty. Result: one tough little car that's put together to stay together. (The service schedule in the Maverick owner's manual goes up to 108,000 miles or nine years; that ought to tell you something about its rugged durability.)

Q. How about parts and service?

A. Maverick is designed to be unusually easy to service. You're dealing with made-in-America parts and 6,000 easy-to-find Ford Dealers. Fast repairs and easy replacements mean extra savings in both time and money.

Q. Is Maverick really easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import?

A. Definitely. Maverick oil changes come only every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrication once every 36,000 miles. The leading economy import recommends oil changes every 3,000 miles (twice as often as Maverick) and chassis lubrication every 6,000 miles (six times as often as Maverick). Those are just a few examples of the many ways Maverick lessens inconvenience and lowers operating cost.

Q. Can I do my own maintenance work?

A. Yes, if you have an average amount of mechanical ability. The Maverick owner's manual contains 24 pages of detailed diagrams and easy-to-follow instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You'll find it easy to change spark plugs, replace ignition points . . . plus many other do-it-yourself repairs and replacements.

Q. Can a small car be safe? And how safe is safe?

A. This small car incorporates the latest advances in engineering. Maverick's brakes are as big as a standard compact's—designed to stop cars weighing hundreds of pounds more. Maverick gives you weight . . . power . . . stability. Designed for American driving conditions.

Q. How does Maverick ride?

A. Here's where Maverick's longer, wider stance really pays off. You get a smoother, quieter ride. Maverick's tight, strong, unitized body helps eliminate squeaks and rattles. Special insulation blocks out road noise. The people who brought you a Ford that was quieter than a Rolls-Royce now bring you a small car that doesn't sound like a power mower.

Q. Is there an advantage in the fact that Maverick is really a 1970 car?

A. Slower depreciation is one money-in-the-pocket advantage. Maverick's 1970 model designation means it keeps its trade-in value higher, longer. (Maverick is built to be a good investment from the minute you buy it to the minute you sell it.)

Better come take a look at this one. You'll find it where the action is . . . right in there with other great Ford values like specially equipped Ford Galaxie 500's . . . Fairlanes . . . Mustangs and Falcons.

JOSEPH R. KLEIN

Recognition Dinner Speaker

KINGSTON

Joseph R. Klein, national director of the Relationships Division of the Boy Scouts of America will be the main speaker at the annual Scout Leaders Recognition Dinner, sponsored by the Rip Van Winkle Council, Inc., B.S.A., Wednesday night, April 30 at the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School.

Scout leaders, their wives, and friends of Scouting from both Ulster and Greene Counties will be in attendance at the dinner which is held annually to pay tribute to the hundreds of men and women who volunteer their time and effort to make the Scouting program available to well over 3,600 boys in the Rip Van Winkle Council area.

Under Klein's direction, the Relationships Division of the National Council, BSA maintains a close liaison with Scoutings partners—the almost 100,000 institutions chartered to operate Scout units and with other organizations that provide manpower, finances, and other resources to local councils.

An objective of the dynamic new long-range plan of the Boy Scouts of America, known as BOYPOWER '76, is to bring Scouting to the disadvantaged boys of the inner-city. Klein directs this campaign through the Urban Relationships Service that has moved into cities and low-opportunity rural areas with programs to meet the needs and concerns of today's youth.

Klein is no stranger to Scouting in the inner-city. He has years of experience as a district and council executive in the borough of Manhattan in New York City and at Rochester.

In 1968, he was a deputy regional Scout executive for Region 2 comprising New York, New Jersey, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands until he assumed his present post in August 1968.

Born in Seaford, Ontario, Canada, Klein attended Notre Dame University and Michigan State University, majoring in education. He served with the U. S. Navy in World War II.

The Scout Leaders Recognition Night Program will begin with a roast beef dinner served by the staff of the Kingston Schools Consolidated School Lunch Program under the direction of John Johnson.

Following dinner the Scouters and their ladies will adjourn to the school auditorium for the main part of the program.

In addition to the address by Klein, the program will include Scouting exhibits, colorful ceremonies, the granting of Wood Badge Awards and the traditional presentation of Silver Beaver Awards for distinguished service to boyhood. The Silver Beaver Award is the highest honor which a local Scout council can confer on a volunteer leader. Robert C. Tremper, chairman of the 1969 Silver Beaver committee, will preside during this portion of the program.

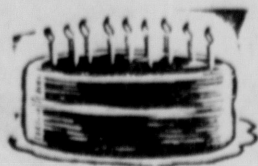

Reservations for the 1969 Scout Leaders Dinner may be made through the Boy Scout Service Center, 260 Fair Street, according to William E. Belser, Kingston, chairman of the dinner arrangements committee.

Church Luncheon April 22

WOODSTOCK "food" and entertaining, and has issued a cookbook entitled "Woodstock — Recollection by Recipe." Some years ago she became involved with the March of Dimes and thus came up with the idea of collecting recipes from various family members as well as friends, and publishing them. Since then all proceeds from the book have gone toward the March of Dimes.

All ladies are cordially invited, and are asked to telephone their reservations to Mrs. Joan Donohue or to Mrs. Carol Gaede.

Jaycees Slate Visitor From Manila, Speaker

WOODSTOCK It's a long way from the Philippines to Woodstock, both in distance and in the way of life. Some of the contrasts will be explained next Wednesday, April 23 at the monthly meeting of the Woodstock Jaycees.

The young man who will be presenting the program for the evening is Efren Sotto, a 17-year-old from Manila, Philippines. Efren is here studying at Onteora High School under the auspices of the American Field Service International Scholarship program. He arrived in this country in August and is presently living with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peekema of Woodstock.

A look at Woodstock and the American people through the eyes of Efren should be quite exciting and enlightening. He will also be explaining the American Field Service program, which enables students like himself to come to America and study. The program also allows students from this country to study in one of 60 other participating countries.

The Woodstock Jaycees encourage and support the AFS program in hopes that it will help to bring a better understanding of the many ways of life around the world.

Senior Citizens

WOODSTOCK Woodstock Senior Citizens will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, April 17 at 1 p.m. in the Reformed Church Fellowship Hall. Guests are welcome according to Hans Martinson, president.

Onteora Budget Discussions Set for Apr. 29

WOODSTOCK The Onteora School District Budget meeting originally scheduled for April 15 at the Woodstock Elementary School has been postponed until April 29.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Woodstock Jaycees. The postponement was necessary since the final budget will not be ready until the end of the month due to contract negotiations still in progress. The Rev. David Arnold of the Episcopal Church in Woodstock will be the moderator for the budget meeting on the 29th.

Historical Unit Plans to Open Museum April 20

WOODSTOCK The history of Woodstock is stock art life now. The Historical Society of Woodstock is proud to announce that something new is being added to the community. They are opening a permanent art museum on the second floor of their building, featuring some of the art of Woodstock, some of the painters of past years as well as those that are a part of the art now.

The museum will open to the public on Sunday, April 20. Art-6 Rock City Road, this Saturday and Sunday.

At its April meeting, the board of directors of the Woodstock Chamber of Commerce, elected Christopher D. Morris president for a one-year term.

Morris, who was vice-president, succeeds Ned Houst, who held the office for the past year. Houst continues as a member of the Board of Directors.

The Library is anxious to recover books misplaced or forgotten by borrowers. No questions, no demerits, no fines—just please return the books.

And now that spring is here, you'll find the Library well stocked with books on gardening, including the Woodstock Garden Club's shelf of good and informative reading.

Library Fair Day is July 18.

Morris is a real estate broker with offices in Woodstock and Kingston. He is a long term member of Kingston Kiwanis and also a member of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. Morris is a past director and first campaign manager of Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Committee, and a past director and campaign chairman, the Ulster County Community Chest.

Morris' first action as president was to launch a campaign for new members, under the

Work Party

St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Woodstock, will conduct a work party at the church on Saturday from 8 a.m. until 12 noon. Men, women and children of the parish are asked to come with tools and give a hand to beautify the churchyard for spring and summer.

There will be a rummage sale at the church the following week on Friday and Saturday, April 25 and 26, according to the Vicar, the Rev. David W. Arnold. The parish house is available for storage of any items the people may have to donate.

slogan "Double the Membership." Co-chairmen of the campaign are William Militello, Gus Pawelka and Oscar Vandendooren.

In the avowed purpose to revitalize the Chamber, Morris emphasized the importance of working closely with the Guild of Craftsmen, the Artists' Association and other, cultural groups with the aim of a better Woodstock.

The Chamber's Information Center, at the entrance to the village, is scheduled for accelerated activity. Members are being urged to make greater use of the opportunity the center affords to acquaint visitors with their activities and businesses.

Couple Free Of Contagious Deadly Disease

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — A young couple are apparently free of a potentially deadly contagious disease that killed a relative one day after she bid them goodbye as they left on their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Coffin of nearby Marcy returned home Tuesday morning unaware that New York State police had initiated a search for them all along the eastern seaboard and Canada.

The Coffins, married Saturday, were tested for a form of meningitis, the disease that killed Coffin's sister-in-law Sunday.

Mrs. Coffin, 20, was treated and released at a hospital. Her husband, 28, was tested, and although he showed no signs of the disease, his doctor said, he was hospitalized in isolation as a precautionary measure. The relative, Mrs. Elizabeth Coffin, 19, died in childbirth. Doctors said her baby was still-born.

Pulafico praised the state police for their all-out effort to locate the couple.

On Carrying Tax Revenue

Schwenk Critical of Plan

KINGSTON of $115,667 for 1965 when in fact the 1965 deficit was $47,823.57. Former Mayor John J. Schwenk criticized Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan today for carrying additional sales tax revenue amounting to $127,000 as a surplus in 1969 when he should have applied the money to the present real estate tax in the form of a reduction. Taking exception to statements made by Garraghan and reported in Monday's Freeman, Schwenk suggested that the mayor could have applied the money to the reduction of real estate tax anytime between Dec. 28 when the money was received from the state and Jan. 7 when the budget was approved by the Common Council. Schwenk said further that Mayor Garraghan said the 1966 budget provided a deficit

Concluding, the former mayor said, "I don't think the city's financial situation is 'tremendous' as stated by Mayor Garraghan when we are more in property taxes instead receiving an increase in state of less."

Nothing Tremendous

Saying he inherited a deficit of $110,000 when he took office, Schwenk suggested that the Department of Audit and Control should have stipulated what years the additional deficit occurred. Schwenk also stated "my last budget in 1965 reflected a rate of $68.32 per thousand or $15.34 lower than the 1968 tax rate. Total expenditures amounted to $2,996,066.49 whereas Mayor Garraghan's total expenditures for his last budget (1969) are $4,789,798.46, an increase of $1,792,731.97 over 1965."

Gun Is Only Missing Evidence As Sirhan Jury Deliberates

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The jury trying Sirhan Bishara Sirhan for murder is closeted with the physical evidence in the case—everything except the gun that killed Robert F. Kennedy.

Only People's Exhibit No. 6, the cheap little pistol that ended the life of a presidential candidate, is missing from the 154 items piled into the jury room.

The jurors, who resume deliberations this morning, can get the gun—but not without asking. In their first full day, Tuesday, they requested only two things—a new light bulb and some chalk for their blackboard.

"There's really no reason to have the gun in there," said William Conroy, the sheriff's inspector in charge of the jury.

"We generally don't give the weapon to juries unless they ask."

Sirhan, in his windowless cell five floors above the 44-year-old Hall of Justice, was reported

"in pretty good shape," by one of his attorneys, Russell Parsons. The 25-year-old Sirhan had been nervous during the state's closing argument Monday, Parsons said.

"He asked me when I thought the jury might reach a decision and how did I feel," Parsons said on a brief stopover in the eighth-floor courtroom. "I told him I felt encouraged, but the jury must be talking the case over."

The jurors' spokesman when a verdict is reached will be Bruce D. Elliott, 24, a bachelor with a Ph.D. degree who was elected foreman as the jury's first act on retiring to the jury room.

Elliott, a systems analyst for TRW, Inc.—an aerospace contractor and think tank—has the most formal education among the seven men and five women on the jury. The others include a plumber, a mathematics teacher, a mechanic, several telephone company employees, a pressroom foreman and an insurance company adjuster.

If the jury convicts Sirhan of first degree murder—the verdict asked by the state—there will be a separate, subsequent trial to determine whether he will go to the gas chamber or be sentenced to life in prison. Second degree murder—asked by the defense—is punishable by five years to life in prison, with the length of sentence and parole set by the state's Adult Authority.

Ferndale, Michigan, School District Fights Segregation Order

FERNDALE, Mich. (AP) — All 365 pupils in U.S. Grant elementary school are Negro.

The federal Office of Education says it constitutes illegal segregation. The Ferndale School District, the first in the North to be threatened with loss of federal funds, agrees that it's segregation, but denies it's illegal.

The Office of Education issued an order Tuesday designed to force the integration of Grant pupils with about 4,100 children in nine other district elementary schools.

"We know there's segregation," Supt. John J. Houghton said, "but it's of a de facto nature. The school was built to meet an existing need and the population pattern that developed around it resulted in the fact that it is completely Negro today."

Leon E. Panetta, director of the Office of Education's civil rights office, said the segregation of Negro pupils in Grant started when the school was built in 1926 as a deliberate effort to establish and maintain a discriminatory policy.

The school is in Royal Oak

Township. Aside from a small portion of Ferndale, it is the only area in the school district with a large concentration of Negroes.

The district—comprised of most of the city of Ferndale, Royal Oak, and parts of two adjacent cities—has a total of 8,170 students, 740 of them Negro.

Houghton said one other elementary school has 27 Negro pupils, and two others have one Negro pupil each. The remainder of the Negro pupils in the district attend the junior high school and the senior high school.

Burton Shifman, attorney for the district's school board, will meet with federal officials Monday to discuss the case.

"We have very little disagreement with the facts as the government presented them," he said. "We do disagree with the conclusion that the situation is deliberate."

Sheldon Hochman, president of the school board, said the district now receives $275,000 yearly in federal funds, including $140,000 used for a special education program at the Grant school.

Many residents of Royal Oak have indicated that they believe integration of the Grant school

Masters to Make Challenge For Dem Post in Columbia

ANCRAMDALDE Hillary Masters, former Democratic candidate for delegate to last year's Chicago convention, will challenge Lawrence Novak of Valatie for the chairmanship of the Columbia County Democratic Committee.

An author and former Hyde Park theatre operator, Masters has been endorsed by the Hudson city committee to oppose Novak who seeks reelection after several years in office.

Novak was informed of Masters' intention by telegram in which the challenger said his candidacy came in "the genuine belief that new leadership is required if the full potential of the Democratic Party is to be realized and if the principles of the Democratic Party are to be encouraged, enriched and supported by the people."

Masters made his decision to run following assurance from an informal group of committeemen.

Novak, defending his position stated that Columbia County's Democratic enrollment is the greatest in its history and is on the verge of continued progress. He cited the fact that a Democrat was elected mayor of Chatham for the first time in recent history and that there are more Democratic town boards in Columbia County than ever before.

"There is no question about it. I will run on my record," he concluded.

Tivoli Bid Turned Down On Junkers

RED HOOK A bid by the Village of Tivoli was turned down in the Red Hook Town Board meeting Tuesday night, asking for consolidation of junk cars for destruction.

The town decided to go it alone, using local junkman Vincent Ventimiglia's junkyard as its means of disposal of the unsightly hulks.

Bids were awarded to the following: liquid bituminous to Catskill Material; galvanized pipe to Harlem Valley Supply; hot and cold mix to Dutchess Quicklime; a stove to Catskill Materials; washed gravel to Rock City Sand and Gravel.

One bid for $650 on a 1944 Caterpillar was rejected as it was the only bid.

The town has decided to put up three streetlights at the following locations: Boothby Road, on 9G at Barrytown and on 9G at Hooker Woods Road.

Advertisements are being placed for a gravel bank north of Route 199 and east of Route 9.

It was decided to buy a photo copying machine for the town office.

It also was agreed to pay Raymond Yantz $200 for real property to be used in straightening out Yantz Road.

The class of 1910 of Rhinebeck High School presented a set of American Heritage Presidents' Series of books to the school library.

A year's sabbatical was granted to Ralph Stuart Jr., who received a national science fellowship award for the coming year. He will take his leave at the University of Houston as a member of an earth science research program.

Steeves gave a report on the Neighborhood Youth Corp program in the Rhinebeck area, noting that several young people had been employed gainfully at the school.

Next Rhinebeck School Board meeting is scheduled for April 28.

New Paltz, Marlboro, Pine Bush Score UCAL Wins

ICE BRAWL — Los Angeles Kings' Dale Rolfe (6) grabs St. Louis Blues' Jean-Guy Talbot (17) and linesmen Matt Pavelich tries to restrain Kings' Bill Flett in the first of NHL playoff game in St. Louis. (19) is Howie Menard and (15) Referee Lloyd Gilmour. Others are unidentified. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Blues Blank Kings

By United Press International
"Curse you Red Baron!"
That's about all the Los Angeles Kings can say about Red Berenson of the St. Louis Blues after Berenson personally wrecked the Kings 4-0, in the first game of the National Hockey League western division semifinal playoff Tuesday night.
Berenson racked up a three-goal hat trick in the second period, a feat accomplished in NHL playoffs only by Busher Jackson, Rocket Richard and Ted Lindsay. The three goals, the first period tally by Larry Keenan and a rugged Blue defense gave goalie Jacques Plante his third shutout of the current Stanley Cup Playoffs. Plante had blanked the Philadelphia Flyers twice during the four game first playoff round. Against the Kings, Plante stopped 30 shots as Bob Placer and Al Arbour spearheaded the Blue defensive corps.
Despite his hat trick, Berenson claimed he felt that his team was "sluggish" because of the layoff after eliminating Philadelphia.
Los Angeles holds a record of frustration in the St. Louis arena, where they have never won, showing a two-year record of 0-8-2. Coach red Kelly admitted his team had just failed to skate well against the Blues, who finished 30 points ahead of L.A. in the regular season.
After Berenson's hat trick, Kelly withdrew Gerry Desjar-dins from the Nets and replaced him with Wayne Rutledge, who banked the Blues in the final period.
Plante's shutout gave him a total of 13 in Stanley Cup competition over a 12-year span, tying him with Turk Broda in that category.
The best-of-seven series resumes in St. Louis on Thursday, when Boston and Montreal also return to action in their eastern division semifinal series at Boston.

Ray Zappone, star hurler for New Paltz, struck out 20 Rondout Valley batters and fired a two-hitter to lead his squad to a 5-3 victory over Rondout in the opening game of the Ulster County Athletic League baseball season Tuesday. The contest was played at the winners' field.
In other games Tuesday, Rich Alexander blew it by 14 Walkkill batters, but had to work himself out of a fifth inning jam, to pitch Pine Bush to a 4-3 win over the home club.
Dale Sutton was yesterday's hitting star as he went three-for-four, sparking Marlboro, defending UCAL Champs to a 7-3 win over Onteora.
Zappone was at the top of his game as he struck out the side in all but the third inning. The lone fielding play that led to an out, came in that inning when Dave Sims was caught stealing after Zappone had walked him. Rapid Ray then struck out the rest of the Ganders, allowing but two hits and three unearned runs.

Anderson Homers
Despite Zappone's outstanding performance, it took a two-run blast by catcher Hal Anderson to spark the New Paltz nine to victory.
An error on a pick-off attempt by Zappone after George Wallack got a scratch single and stole second, gave the Ganders a run in the second stanza. New Paltz miscues helped the losers get two more markers in the sixth, without benefit of a hit.

Sutton Gets Three
Besides collecting three hits, Sutton and relief pitcher Lou Monti held Onteora to just two hits as the Dukes started off on the right foot to defend their UCAL title.
Monti and Dan Pagano had two hits apiece for Marlboro, as the winners collected ten hits off losing hurler Ed Mercer. Mercer went the distance for the Indians.

Scores Two Runs
Pine Bush scored two runs in the second, got two more in the fourth when Alexander doubled home two teammates but the Bushmen had to close Walkkill to three hits. Bob Sawson, the first of two Walkkill pitchers, took the loss.

Alexander fanned John Dunn and John Doski with two on and two runs across in the fifth to tie down the victory. Alexander walked five and held on their lineup. Trading away Orlando Cepeda may not have sat well with many fans, but Joe Torre is a great hitter and a good replacement at first base.

The Cardinals strongest threat comes from the Chicago Cubs, Pie believes.
"I like that infield—Glen Beckert, Ron Santo, Ernie Banks and Don Kessinger," Pie said. "Ken Holtzman and Ferguson Jenkins are leaders of the pitching staff."

Traynor doubts that the Cincinnati Reds' pitching will hold up "but they can score runs and that's their greatest asset."
"The Philadelphia Phils lack

AFL's Jim Norton Retires
HOUSTON (UPI)—Jim Norton, the all-time leader in pass interceptions in the American Football League, announced his retirement from professional football Tuesday.

The 30-year-old, 6-3, 180-pound defensive back, the last of the original Houston Oilers, intercepted 45 passes in his nine-year career.
He was picked as an AFL all-star in 1962-63-67.
He lost his starting job last season, but continued as the team's regular punter. He finished his career with a 42.3-yard punting average.

"The Cards did not stand pat K. S. "Bud" Adams, the Oiler

"His fastball was really moving," said the winning mentor.
"He had some control problems, walking five men, but he was sharp enough to keep out of trouble. The game wasn't much of a workout for my fielders, but I'm sure they didn't mind," he concluded.

Good Hitting
"We came up with eight hits and five runs. I consider that to be a good afternoon's work. Anderson's homer really gave us a lift," said Freer.

New Mound Boon to Hitters
PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Last season was the year of the pitchers but, says Pie Traynor 1969 will be the year of the hitters because of the lower pitching mound.
"Last season there were seven pitchers who had 20 victories or better," the Hall of Famer said in an interview. "I doubt if there'll be more than three this year."

"The pitcher is not able to get all of his stuff on the mound that has been lowered seven inches. On the higher mound the ball would take off. But today the pitcher can't get his fast ball and breaking stuff to move. There won't be as many completed games this season as there were last year."

But Traynor feels the outstanding pitchers are adjusting themselves to the mound.
"Denny McLain and Mickey Lolich already have proved they are winners," he said. "I don't think Bob Gibson will have trouble having a good year."

Traynor believes Detroit and St. Louis have a good chance to repeat as champions of their leagues.
"The Tigers have lots of punch aside from the good pitching," he said. "Bill Freehan is a terrific catcher, can hit and has shown consistency this year. Al Kaline looked his best during the World Series and he's been up in the majors for about 15 years. He throws well and can cover a lot of ground."

Traynor, who won the Hall of Fame accolade because of his plate and can hit to left field, Heber has a future at the hot corner.
"He has a good style at the plate and can hit to left field," Taylor said of the 21-year-old left-handed batter. "He can pull the ball too."

"Once he knows the hitters, he'll be a good third baseman. He's a rookie, but he'll learn."

New Akron Golf Course Among World's Finest

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—In a few years, a new golf course will be ready to challenge the skill of the world's finest golfers.
It will be the sister of a 7,160-yard course which has tested the power and precision of the pros since 1960.
The new Firestone Country Club South Course, located just across the road from the North layout, will be ready for member play this summer. In a few years, Firestone officials plan to stage a professional tournament on the 7,139-yard course.
Designer Robert Trent Jones carved both courses out of the rolling Northeast Ohio countryside.
The one fascinating feature of the new South Course is its 10 water holes...five on the front side and five on the back.
Fairways, greens and tees jut out into, across and along the Tuscarawas Reservoir. Six bridges will connect the peninsulas.
"Whenever a large body of water is used in the design of a new golf course, the holes usually follow alongside the water or occasionally a fairway or green is extended out over the water to make a peninsula," Jones said.
"In a landlocked course, the only water available is a river which will cross a fairway or pass by a green," he said. Often, the river will be dammed to make an artificial pond in a strategic location.
"However, in designing the new Firestone Country Club North Course, the size of the Tuscarawas Reservoir provided

Clark Graebner Is Easy Winner

HOUSTON (UPI)—Top-seeded Clark Graebner swept to an easy victory in the opening round of the River Oaks Tennis Tournament Tuesday, but Australia's top twosome of Ray Ruffels and Bill Bowery both were upset victims.
Graebner started his bid for the River Oaks title with an easy 6-2, 6-2 decision over former Rice University player Sherwood Stewart.
Two of the other top four seeded players—Stan Smith of Los Angeles (No. 2) and Brazil's Tomaz Koch (No. 4)—advanced to the second round with ease, but third-seeded Bob Lutz of the University of Southern California had to default because his match conflicted with a collegiate contest back home.

Murcer Makes Like New Mantle

TRAPPED—Yankees' Bobby Murcer gets caught in rundown on third base line by Senators' catcher Paul Casanova during Yanks' opening game at Yankee Stadium Tuesday. Murcer's four RBIs with homer, double, single, helped Yanks win, 4-1. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

By United Press International
The New York Yankees appear to have come up with one of their old fashioned rookies: One with muscle.

Murcer is what the one-time Lords of Baseball have lacked since the grand collapse of 1965 and the descent into the cellar in 1966. So acute was the problem that the guys who virtually invented the home run took pride this spring in predicting they would have the youngest and fastest team in their history.

Will, 22-year old Bobby Murcer can run right but he can do that's even more impressive: He can hit that long ball.

At 5-11 and 185 pounds, the left-handed hitting native of Oklahoma City is a compact athlete who swings the bat at whiplash velocity. He's batting .437 after the first seven games of the season and has hit three of the Yankees' 10 homers.

Murcer's Power Excites
Murcer, whose power already has begun to excite Yankee fans dismayed at their team's popgun attack during the last few seasons, brought back memories of another era Tuesday when he drove in four runs with a homer, single and double in an 8-2 victory over the Washington Senators.

Murcer, who has hit safely in all seven of New York's games, cracked a homer to tie the score in the third inning, singled home a run to tie the score again in the fifth and doubled home two runs to cap a five-run rally in the seventh. Joe the Oakland Athletics in Tuesday's other AL games.

Don Buford drove in four runs with three singles and Frank Robinson hit a three-run homer for the Orioles, who snapped the Red Sox four-game winning streak. Buford's third hit drove in two runs in the eighth to break a 5-5 tie and Robinson settled the issue moments later.

Orange Defeats Ulster, 5 to 2

MIDDLETOWN — Orange County Community College's Rich McClernon stopped Ulster County CC cold after the third inning to pitch the Colts to a 5-2 victory over the visitors in a Mid-Hudson Conference baseball game here Tuesday.

The Senators, scoreless after the third inning, suffered their second defeat in three starts.

Lee Trevino Says . . .

Masters Is Out

CARLSBAD, Calif. (UPI)—U.S. Open golf champion Lee Trevino said Tuesday he never will play in the Masters Tournament at Augusta, Ga., again.

"I don't have the game for the Augusta National course," he said. "I hit a low ball and I just drill it into those sloping fairways. It takes a guy with a high tee-ball like Jack Nicklaus or Gary Player to win it."

"I know it's a beautiful course but, I just can't play it. They can invite me all they want but, I am not kidding, I am not going to play there anymore."

"Nicklaus skips Greensboro and the Pensacola every year and I am just going to skip the Masters."

South African Gary Player, the current British Open champion, who always has done well at the Masters, overheard Trevino and said "You have to be kidding."

"I am not kidding," Trevino replied. Player persisted and said, "Don't you think if you are a champion you have to play every kind of course? I have the second best Masters record, behind Arnold Palmer, but I don't hit the ball very high."

Trevino replied "But Gary,

The victory enabled Orange to tie with Dutchess for first place in the Mid-Hudson with a 2-1 record and gave them a 4-4 overall rating.

Ulster's first two runs were unearned. With two out in the top of the first, Mike Mulkins walked and came all the way around when Colt third baseman Larry Scheuermann threw wild to first on a ground ball by Moore.

Moore tripled with two outs in the third and scored on Scheuermann's second wild throw to first base on a grounder by Mike Patrick.

McClernon limited UCCC to six hits, walked four and struck out four to notch his first college victory for the Colts after two previous losses. He allowed only three hits over the last six innings.

Charlie Moore, the UCCC starter, suffered the loss. Mickey Bush replaced Moore after Orange had scored its final run in the eighth.

CIRCLE K PROJECT—Keith Jordan (L), president and Richard Roth (C), treasurer of the Circle K Club of Ulster County Community College presents a check for $1,141.16 to Martin P. Nilan, a member of the board of directors of United Cerebral Palsy for Ulster Greene counties. The sum was realized from the third annual Cerebral Palsy Bowling Sweepstakes held in three city bowling lanes. Palsy Sweeps Raise $1116

Bowlers competing in the third annual Cerebral Palsy bowling sweeps sponsored by the Circle K Club of Ulster County Community College raised a total of $1146.16, according to a report filed by Mrs. Martin Nilan.

A total of $482.70 was paid out to bowlers who participated in the sweeps at Ferraro's Bowlerama, Sangi's Bowlerama and Mid-City Lanes in Kingston. Top prize winners of $10 in the gross division included Don Smith, 731, and Lucille Steen, 698, at the Bowlerama; Bob Short (705) and Marilyn Motkin (680) at Mid-City Lanes; and Alfred Radel (735) and Lucille Steen (676) at Sangi's Bowlerama where John R. Madden had second gross of 712. Lucille Steen was the only bowler to lead at two different lanes.

Leaders in the scratch division were: Kildy Corrado, Bowlerama, Sangi's Bowlerama and Mid-City Lanes in Kingston, vine, 648, for $3; Rose Schatzel (586-548) for $5 and $3. At Mid-City Lanes, Jim Rose posted 632 for $5; Tom Kearney 622 for $3; Dot Atwood 513 for $5 and Nadja Yonta 504 for $3. Larry Petersen posted 634 for $5 at Sangi's Bowlerama and Bob Scheneman 624 for $3, Marion Sanford 568 for $5 and Dot Crantz 541 for $3.

Runners-up winners of $8 prizes were: Jim Johnson (699) and Kathy Diamond (690) at the Bowlerama; Frank Deure (695) and Phyllis Wolfeld (633) at Mid-City and John R. Madden (212) and Marge Brown (662) at Sangi's Bowlerama.

The winners were very strong in the running events as they captured a first in every event except the 880 yard relay. In the 100-yard dash, Bob Marks and John Salzmann finished first in a dead heat for the winners. Their time in this event was 10.5 seconds.

Dave Dehea and Steve Buso each accounted for a first place in the field events for Roosevelt and tied for first place in another. Buso cleared 10.6 to take the honors in the pole vault.

Kingsnonski won both the 120-yard high hurdles and the 180-yard low hurdles to pace the Kingston High School track team to an 81-55 win over visiting Roosevelt Tuesday. It was the opening meet for Kingston Coach Frank Modica and his cindermen.

Kingsnonski copped first place in the high hurdles with a time of 17.6 seconds, and followed with a clocking of 22 seconds flat to win the low hurdles.

The winners were off and running again in the second inning. Dave Smith singled, went to second on Malgieri's hit and scored the game's third run on an error.

Wolsen actually figured in the win at the plate, as well as on the mound. The losers had tied the score in the top half of the sixth inning, as they tallied two runs. Bruce managed to close the door before more damage could be done, but the Sawyers still had to come up with the go-ahead marker.

With one out, Bob Todaro slapped a single. Wolsen then came to the plate and laid down a perfect sacrifice bunt, moving Todaro into scoring position at second. Jeff Markle then powdered a long double to score Todaro with the margin of victory.

The Pipers had to break a 96-all tie with two minutes left before beating visiting Miami 105-10 Tuesday night to even their best-of-7 Eastern Division semifinal series.

Indiana and Dallas, however, easily pulled ahead of Kentucky and New Orleans in their best-of-7 division series. The Pacers routed Kentucky 107-89 at Louisville and the Chaparrals clobbered New Orleans 136-118 at Dallas.

Before the three get a chance to win their sets, Oakland and Denver, also tied 3-3, will decide their Western Division semi-finals on Thursday night.

On Thursday night, Indiana will host Kentucky to decide their East series and Dallas travels to New Orleans for their West seventh game.

Minnesota and Miami must wait until Saturday night at Miami.

Connie Hawkins, who scored 35 points, broke the Minnesota deadlock with a basket that put the Pipers ahead to stay. His three-point play later helped to clinch the victory after Miami had overcome a 60-47 halftime deficit.

Indiana took a 59-48 lead and never let up as Roger Brown scored 25 points and Fred Lewis 22 while holding Kentucky's Darrel Carrier to 11. Louie Dampier had 27 for the Colonels.

SAUGERTIES High School's baseball team defeated Red Hook, 4-3, in a game played Tuesday at the winners' field. Gerry Malgieri was the hitting star for the winners as he pounded out two hits in three times at bat and scored a run. Bruce Wolsen was credited with the win, while Don Farris got the loss.

Coach Pete Kramer's Sawyers tallied two in the first inning, as the "Magnificent" Malgieri singled and then proceeded to steal second and third. Randy Fury walked and Gary

Introducing a Used Car Guarantee It Doesn't Come With Every Car

It's a 100% guarantee. Not one of those "we-pay-half-you-pay-half deals."

And it comes only with used cars that pass the Volkswagen 16 point Safety and performance test.

This is how it works. When we get a car as a trade-in, we give it the inspection. Check it out completely. If it passes, we tune up, tighten, repair or replace everything that needs tuning up, tightening, repairing or replacing.

Then we guarantee it 100% repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts

for 30 days or 1000 miles.

What kind of cars get our guarantees? All kinds. Chevs. Fords. Ramblers. VWs. (We get all kinds of trade-ins for new Volkswagens.)

So. The next time somebody tries to sell you a used car that's "just like new," ask about the guarantee. Then remember us.

No, our used cars aren't "just like new." No used cars could be in better shape, either.

Dear Abby

Says It's 'too soon'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I recently met a man on the beach. It was early in the morning and we were the only 2 around so we struck up a conversation. He told me he had lost his wife 3 months before. (I've been a widow for 3 years.)

We hit it off immediately and had so much in common. It was wonderful! We had lunch together that day, and dinner that evening. And for the next 2 weeks we spent all our time together. He asked me if I would marry him when a year has passed since his wife's death. I accepted.

We flew north together and he came to my home town to meet my married children. They adored him.

My problem: He also has married children, but he doesn't want to tell them about me yet.

He says it's "too soon." I don't mind waiting a year to be married, but I think the longer he waits to tell his children about me, the harder it will be.

I love him very much, Abby, and will wait if I have to, but it doesn't seem fair to me. Please advise me.

HURT

DEAR HURT: Don't be hurt. He knows his children better than you do. But tell him that if he holds off telling them too long they might think he's marrying a woman he hardly knows.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 years old and I have a crush on a guy for the first time in my life. We are only on a hello and good-bye basis.

I see him about once a week and I say "Hi." Then he says,

"Hi." Then I say, "Bye" and he says, "Bye."

How can I get on friendlier terms with him? Please don't tell me to call him up and invite him to something. I don't know him well enough for that.

GOT A CRUSH

DEAR GOT: Use a little imagination. Wear something (like a ROCKEFELLER FOR PRESIDENT button) or carry a pair of ice skates—anything to give him a chance to say something more than Hi and Bye. If you can't think of something to catch his eye and he can't think of anything for openers, you'd better forget him. Neither of you is ready yet.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, Jenny, is being married in July. She has asked her fiancé's 2 sisters to be bridesmaids. These girls are going to be bridesmaids at another wedding in June.

The gowns for Jenny's wedding have already been selected and will be here soon.

Now Jenny has heard that her future mother-in-law wants her daughters to wear the gowns for the JUNE wedding that my daughter selected for her wedding.

Jenny says absolutely not. What do you say?

FURIOUS

DEAR FURIOUS: If the June wedding is "local," and will be attended by many of the same people who will attend Jenny's wedding, I'd be inclined to vote with Jenny.

My husband is a salesman, and has won all sorts of trips as prizes—but he goes with other prize-winners from different parts of the country. His company has never offered him a trip with his wife and family. Their conventions and meetings are held all over the world, which I resent, as his regular sales job takes him away enough as it is.

Right now I'm going to the supermarket. That friendly, good-looking man in the produce department is looking better all the time.

One of the most interesting chapters in "Modern Bridge Bidding Complete" is headed, "When Not to Count Roth Points."

It belongs in any book on bidding although the heading might be changed to "When Not to Count Points."

According to Roth and Rubens, the time not to count points is when you have a good play for some contract. In such cases they say, "Bid your game or slam and see what happens."

Suppose you open one spade with the South hand. You hope your partner will respond and you'll be heading for a slam if he shows any signs of life. But he passes and East opens with a double.

You know your partner may have a blank hand but you may still make four spades. In any event you won't be hurt there and your opponents may have an easy four hearts or four clubs. Four spades is an all-purpose gambling bid that you should make.

The book does not show the other hands so we have filled some in. North certainly should not respond to the spade bid. East has a sound take-out double and we have taken the liberty of having West double four spades for business.

West opens a trump to stop potential ruffs. South goes up with dummy's 10 and leads the queen of diamonds from dummy. East can do no better than cover with the king.

South takes his ace and will now be able to score an over-trick by the simple process of cashing his jack of diamonds; ruffing a diamond returning to his hand with the ace of clubs; drawing trumps and eventually making his last diamond.

A really good player won't get this over-trick. He will assure his contract by drawing trumps before playing a second diamond. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

(A.) A smile is the best way to display a dimple. Putting a lightener on it to bring it out would make it look artificial.

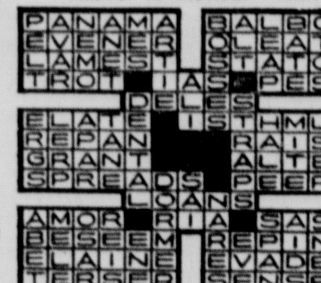

A dimple must look natural. So stick with the smile.

Oscars -- A Champion Touch

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Academy Awards finally came of age as a television spectacle this week under the guidance of that master showman, producer-director-choreographer Gower Champion.

And as ABC-TV's annual presentation of Hollywood's prize-winning film, it did it all with the elegance of its new location: the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center.

After years in which the Oscar telecast was inexplicably presented in a barnlike Civic Auditorium in Santa Monica, the glittering setting of the downtown music center—with its remarkable acoustics—gave the big Hollywood affair the glamor and tone it demanded all along.

Chief Problem

Aside from the setting, the chief problem of past Oscar broadcasts on ABC TV has been to sustain interest between the chief awards, and, frankly, just to prevent the whole thing from becoming a tedious, uneventful shambles in its lesser moments. And in the past, the perennial chief, Bob Hope, was the chief buffer against these problems.

Champion, however, came in with a new concept, and it paid off handsomely. To begin with, instead of Hope alone, there were 10 stars who shared the chief duties of the evening—making introductions, reading the names of the nominees and winners, and engaging in light repartee. These stars were Ingrid Bergman, Sidney Poitier, Jane Fonda, Frank Sinatra, Natalie Wood, Walter Matthau, Diahann Carroll, Tony Curtis, Rosalind Russell and Burt Lancaster.

Next, realizing that the chief awards need little help in arousing public interest, Champion focused heavily on the moments of the telecast that usually cause a lapse of attention. Some of the lesser presented with theatrical inventiveness that made for delightful viewing.

Costume Awards

For example, costume awards were offered in the context of a fashion show, with music featuring designs from the films "Oliver!", "The Lion in Winter," "Romeo and Juliet," "Planet of the Apes" and "Star"—with the models dancing rock style.

In short, the show quite properly had a wide range of appeal for a wide range of tastes. Cutting its normal, annual fluffs to a minimum, it had moments of high style, moments of barrelhouse humor, moments of nightclub intimacy.

A Red Hook Split

RED HOOK, a matter of time until the district will get a fixed seat auditorium, as we are growing quite rapidly." Other board members expressed similar sentiments.

The elementary addition will provide for 36 new classrooms to be added on to the 30 rooms already constructed on Mill Road in the village of Red Hook.

Construction of additional facilities at the Mill Road site will provide the following district organization: grades 4-6 at the present Mill Road site; grades K through 3 in the Mill Road addition; grades seven through nine at Linden Avenue school; and 10 through 12 at the high school.

Estimated cost for the Mill Road addition is $2,160,000. In addition to the 36 classrooms, the new construction will have a two station gymnasium, a cafeteria, a library, and administration and health facilities.

Clear cut majorities voted for a new Red Hook elementary school addition and against a proposed 1,000 seat high school auditorium Tuesday night.

The Mill Road School will have its size more than doubled as the result of 579 votes yes and 425 no on the bond issue. Nine votes were invalid.

And the proposed high school-junior high auditorium was voted down 562 to 417, with 34 invalid votes.

Only 1,013 people voted out of 1,182 registered and more than 4,000 eligible in the Red Hook school district.

Official reaction from school board president Francis Rabbett was one of pleasure. "We are all quite happy with the results of the voting," he said. "We got the really necessary classroom expansion that would have put us in a bind if it had been voted down. It's probably

Rhinebeck Budget

RHINEBECK, over his lawn and inundating his basement.

The board felt that the property was in a natural waterway and previous efforts had failed to alleviate the situation.

Absolutely no objections were raised by Village of Rhinebeck residents as the budget sailed through a public hearing Tuesday night unopposed.

Only one citizen, besides members of the press, attended the hearing.

The assessed tax rate in the new budget was raised $1.75 from 1968-69 to $10 per thousand. Total budget is $217,000.

In the regular business meeting, presided over by Mayor Peter Sipperly, repairs to a fire truck tanker were discussed and two knotty problems laid claim to much of the village board's time.

The first problem concerned Ralph D. Markle Sr., who was trying to get the village's participation in helping him to have water lines connected to his trailer in Rhinecliff.

The line would have to extend 350 feet through rock, and the ultimate resolution of the board was that Markle would have to pay for the work, a sum of about $3,400, if he wanted the work done, or else dig a well.

The second problem concerned Charles A. Vonderheide of South Parsonage Street in the village. Vonderheide had complained of overflow from a storm sewer constantly running over his lawn and inundating his basement.

A Question About Floor Covering

How do I put carpet on stairs?

The easiest method and I may add, the oldest is stair rods. With this method most anyone can do it. The rod fits between the riser and plate, held by screw eyes, and the carpet is slipped behind and only fastened on the very top step and bottom.
